Defeats Incumbent For Bench by Margin Of Over 16,000

Milwaukee — A former LaFollette Progressive, making his eighth bid for a major public office, scored his first victory in Tuesday's election as he ousted a sitting judge for a supreme court seat — the first time the feat has been accomplished in more than a decade.

William Dieterich

Wingert for a full 10-year term. The post pays $17,000 a year.

Returns from 3,236 of the state's 3,378 precincts gave Dieterich 206,285, Wingert 189,959.

Dieterich carried Outagamie county with 7,494 votes to Wingert's 7,189. Each won 28 precincts.

In Appleton he had a 63-vote plurality, 5,255 to 5,192.

Vote in the county outside of Appleton was 2,239 to 1,997 in Dieterich's favor.

Dieterich got 920 votes in Calumet county to Wingert's 680. Wingert carried Waupaca county, 2,522 to 2,496, but Wingert lost two previous bids for the supreme court.

The turnout for Tuesday's non-partisan balloting was less than 400,000, the lightest in recent years. In 1954, Dieterich

Asserts Reds United Against 'Imperialists'

Budapest — Nikita Khrushchev flew to Budapest today and said the Soviet Union and Hungary are firmly united against the "imperialists."

Hungarian communist party chief Janos Kadar, installed in power by the Russian troops who crushed the 1956 anti-Russian rebellion, repudiated the Russian offer to halt nuclear weapon tests. He said it was "one of the greatest acts of peace of our age."

A crowd of about 4,000 persons welcomed the Soviet leader on his first trip abroad since he became premier of the Soviet Union Monday. Heavy security forces lined the 10 miles of highway from Budapest to the airport.

Stresses Unity The official purpose of Khrushchev's trip was to attend the celebration Friday of Hungary's World War II liberation from the Germans by the red army. He is expected to remain in Hungary eight days.

Speaking from a red-draped platform on the runway, the Soviet chief said: "Against the attempts of the imperialists, the unity and cooperation of Hungary and the Soviet Union stands firmly. As long as we are united, there is nothing that we must fear, so we should develop our unity and cooperation."

Firm, 3 Owners Accused of Plot To Arm Cubans

Washington — A federal grand jury here today indicted Stanbern Aeronautics Corp. of Rochester, N.Y., and its principal owners on charges of conspiring to obtain arms in this country for the Cuban revolutionary movement.

The indictment directed against Stanley J. Bachman, Jerome H. Bachman, Bernard Sidney Bachman and the corporation, also charged attempted evasion of federal taxes on transfers of firearms and the execution of false documents.

The justice department, in announcing the indictment, said the investigation by the local federal grand jury grew out of information obtained by a New York grand jury which returned an indictment on Feb. 13, 1957, against former Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarras and eight associates.

Prio, who has been living in Miami for some time, and others were charged with conspiracy to furnish arms and munitions for use against the regime of President Batista in Cuba.

California Gets Set for New Flood

San Francisco — Without time to mop up after one heavy drenching, much of California braced for another today. Rivers were already brimming, lowlands flooded and coastal highways cut by slides.

A combination of high tide and overflow from the Guadalupe river forced evacuation last night of some 900 residents of Alviso, one of the state's oldest and traditionally one of its wettest communities.

Archbishop Reopens Mission He Closed On Integration Issue

New Orleans — The small Roman Catholic mission of St. Cecilia's at nearby Jesuit Bend, scene of a racially-tinted row more than two years ago, will reopen Sunday for Easter services. A white priest will say mass.

TV mission, about 20 miles south of New Orleans, was closed after some parishioners objected to a Negro priest assigned there Oct. 2, 1955.

Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel said in a letter yesterday: "We cannot permit the closed chapel to stand forever as a symbol of resistance to the authority of the church."

The archbishop's letter went to the Rev. Frank Eckimovich, pastor of our Lady of Perpetual Help church, which has jurisdiction over the mission.

Seeks $1.45 Billion More for Defense

Ike Wants Money for B52s, Missile-Firing Submarines

Washington — President Eisenhower asked congress today for an extra $1,455,747,000 in defense appropriations, mainly to acquire B52 bombers and build more missile-firing submarines.

He also asked congress to create a civilian agency to run America's space exploration program.

His request was in the form of a memorandum to the house appropriations committee asking for an increase of that amount in the defense budget for the year starting July 1. If granted, this would boost fiscal 1959 defense appropriations beyond $40 billion.

Of the amount requested, $218,100,000 would be for the army, $180,000,000 for outer space research programs, $206,800,000 to build two additional polaris-firing submarines, and $518,400,000 to build more big bombers and plane refueling tankers.

The army's allotment would be used mainly to speed up missile programs. A large share of the navy's money would be for anti-submarine warfare programs.

Special Message His request for the space agency was in a special message to congress. It went to the legislators immediately after the president said he will have another special message tomorrow on his program for reorganization of the defense department.

One aim of the defense reorganization plan, Eisenhower said, is to strengthen authority of the secretary of defense in military strategy matters.

Eisenhower told congress in his message asking for the new space agency that it would absorb the national advisory committee for aeronautics and would be responsible "for an imaginative and well-conceived program."

The new agency would coordinate space projects as well as conduct space research. It would cooperate closely with the defense department in carrying out some military space research, but the accent would be on peaceful uses of outer space.

Civilian Director Eisenhower called it the "na- cause it is being firm in the interest of the United States and the rest of the world. Some critics in congress and elsewhere have contended the

Neenah Police Station Bond Issue Loses

Opponents Urged Long-Range Plan Prior to Building

Neenah — Neenah voters Tuesday apparently endorsed a master plan for future growth as opposed to immediate construction of a new police station and garage at E. Doty avenue and Walnut street.

A bond issue of $270,000, which would have enabled the council to call for bids and proceed with construction of the proposed station was defeated by 201 votes in a special referendum. The total was 2,467 in favor of the bond issue with 2,688 opposed.

Parking Site? The Chamber of Commerce waged an intensive campaign to defeat the bond issue. The chamber has repeatedly urged that a comprehensive master plan, surveying all future city needs, be undertaken before the city spend more money for municipal improvements.

The chamber agreed that a new police station is a necessity but argued that city-wide planning should come first.

The chamber also said that the proposed site might be better utilized as room for future business expansion or off street parking and that a master plan would indicate the best possible use for the spot. The city already has acquired title to almost the entire block proposed.

Electrical Union Joins in Demand To Share Profits

Detroit — The International Union of Electrical Workers teamed up with Walter P. Reuther today in demanding a profit sharing from General Motors corporation.

IUE President James P. Carey opened bargaining talks with GM on a new labor contract by presenting substantially the same demands that Reuther's United Auto Workers union made on the car makers.

Carey disclosed no specific percentage of profits being asked. The UAW is asking 25 per cent on all profits, before taxes, in excess of 10 per cent of capital investment.

Carey said his union represents 35,000 GM workers in the company's electrical divisions. The IUE is the dominant union at Westinghouse and General Electric and several other electrical firms.

Like Reuther, the IUE president argued that profit sharing along with a wage increase day toward the business recession by giving workers more purchasing power.

Neenah's Sande Upset by Bell; DuCharme Defeats Scanlon; Bayorgeon Back

Clarence A. Mitchell, veteran First ward alderman, Tuesday defeated Robert L. Roemer, the 12-year incumbent, in a stunning mayoralty upset.

Mitchell, 41, 543 N. Appleton street, captured 6,853 votes, carrying 16 precincts. Roemer, 47, 743 W. Spencer street, in winning the other five precincts, received 5,548 votes.

Mitchell's margin was 1,305 votes. Mitchell was the choice of 55.26 per cent of the 12,401 voters who cast ballots. The total turnout was 61.3 per cent of the total number of registered voters. The 12,401 city voters compares with only 4,236 in the rest of Outagamie county.

Candidates for clerk, treasurer, assessor, attorney and two school commissioner seats had no opposition.

The Mitchell upset produced one of four changes in mayor's offices in the 11 cities in or near the Fox Cities.

Stories elsewhere in today's Post-Crescent tell of the victories of Chester Bell over incumbent George Sande in Neenah, Walter Kamp over incumbent I. R. Feragen in Weyauwega and Malcom Veitch in Seymour.

Other stories also tell of the reelection of R. G. DuCharme over John Scanlon in Menasha, Joseph Bayorgeon in Kaukauna, Gus O. Schroeder in New London, Cecil Welch in Marion, Louis Krueckenberg in Clintonville, Lloyd Matheson in Waupaca, Clarence Wolf in Brill and Carl Hofmeister in Chilton.

Over the state at least seven other mayors, besides Roemer, Sande and Feragen, were beaten.

They include Frank Dumbeck, Oconomowoc; Mark Movrich, Ashland; Norman Yeske, Edgerton; Jerome Reinke, Kaukauna; Brooks Dunwiddie, Monroe; Carl J. Mueller, Jefferson, and Robert P. Sommerfeld, St. Francis.

Clerk Elden Broehm polled the most votes of city-wide candidates, 10,434. Treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein was second with 10,397 votes, one more than Atty. Don L. Jury. Assessor John A. Pierre garnered 10,041.

Expect Housing Act To Revive Building

But Officials Emphasize the Bill Sponsored by Democrats Will Not Be Panacea for Business Recession

Washington — Builders and housing officials predicted today the $1,850,000,000 housing act will help push home construction, but emphasized it is no panacea for the business recession.

President Eisenhower signed the Democratic-sponsored bill yesterday with a demand that congress quickly correct some provisions which, he said, conflict with the private enterprise system and "burden the public purse."

But the federal housing administration (FHA) sped orders to its field offices liberalizing down payments as the law permits. Some builders have notified FHA they were waiting to advertise the new terms to prospective home buyers.

Down Payment

The 3 per cent minimum down payment now applies to FHA-insured mortgages of up to $13,500, instead of $10,000. On mortgage sums above $13,500, the down payment remains at 15 per cent and, above $16,000, 20 per cent.

This means that a $14,000 dwelling which FHA calls the "typical" new house may be bought for $500 down instead of $900.

FHA commissioner Norman P. Mason said the lower down payment and the removal of discount controls would be "a boon to home buyers and the home building industry."

Mason did not mention the $1 billion earmarked to support the mortgage market. Congress added this fund as "an immediate stimulus to home construction." It was denounced by Eisenhower, who had asked only for $500 million to be used at his discretion. He got the $500 million too.

Construction Plans

The billion dollars is at the disposal of the Federal National Mortgage association. (FNMA). With this money and $200 million released to FNMA a few weeks ago, that agency is able to tell lenders and builders they can go ahead with construction plans with the assurance the government will buy up any mortgages they choose to sell.

Some lesser officials predicted this would spur the industry in new selling efforts. One said privately it would provide builders and lenders with "an important reassurance that they can plan on bigger scale operations."

The National association of Home Builders said the law could be of "tremendous benefit to moderate income families" who have been hampered by tight housing credit.

The association's executive director, John H. Dickerman, predicted housing would play "a major role in leading the nation out of the business slump."

But he added:

General Election

"There must also be prompt and effective action by the government to strengthen the general economy."

A similar cautionary note came from the National League of Insured Savings associations, which speaks for a substantial part of the building and loan industry. Increased home building, the league's spokesman said, depends on industry efforts to "sell a better home at a better price."

The new law authorized Eisenhower to boost the GI interest rate from 4 1/2 per cent to 4 3/4 per cent. This, coupled with decline in other interest rates, may cause lenders to look more favorably on veterans' housing loans.

Eisenhower criticized this provision on grounds that the rate should be more flexible—in other words, that he should be permitted to raise it higher if the situation warrants.

Flip of Coin Decides on Cancer Drugs

Chicago — The flip of a coin is deciding some cancer patients' chances for longer life.

The coin decides whether they will or won't be given anti-cancer drugs at the time of cancer surgery. The drugs are aimed at killing escaping cancer cells which could start new cancers elsewhere in the body later.

Doctors and scientists think such use of drugs greatly boosts the chance for cure, for killing all the cancer. The drugs do marvelously well in animals.

But they don't know whether it's wise, or indeed essential, to use the drugs along with surgery in humans.

Human tests are the only way to find out. Some people can be given the drugs, others not.

But who? Deciding each personal case would be like playing God. So the decision is made by flipping a coin. That's actually one of the best ways of statistically choosing a random sample.

Dr. Warren H. Cole, surgeon-in-chief of the University of Illinois research and educational hospitals, described the cancer experiments today to science writers making an American Cancer society tour of leading research centers.

The drugs are introduced into the surgical wound and injected by vein at times after the operation.

How well they work may take two more years to learn, but early results "look promising," Dr. Cole said.

Once there is real evidence that the drugs can save lives, they will be given to everyone undergoing most cancer surgery, he said.

Nazi Documents Cited in Trial On 'Anastasia'

Attempt to Disprove Claim That Woman Is Czar's Daughter

Wiesbaden, Germany — Nazi police documents were cited in civil court today to disprove Mrs. Anna Anderson's claim that she is Anastasia, youngest daughter of the last Russian czar.

But the documents failed to shake a former Russian cavalry captain, Felix Dassel, in his belief that Mrs. Anderson is actually the only survivor of the 1918 bolshevik massacre of the imperial family.

"That is all Greek to me," the ailing former riding master at the imperial court said.

"I am certain — convinced — would be too weak an expression — that the plaintiff is Anastasia."

The hearings are being held in a suit Mrs. Anderson, 57, has brought against Duchess Barbara of Mecklenburg, grand niece of the czar, who was declared his heiress and closest surviving descendant by a Berlin court in 1933. An estate estimated at $75,000 at today's values is at stake.

Not at Trial

Mrs. Anderson is ill with tuberculosis and is not attending the trial.

The duchess claims Mrs. Anderson actually is a Polish farm girl named Franziska Schanzkowsky. This claim was supported by the Nazi police files.

These documents told this story:

Investigators established that Mrs. Anderson came to Berlin in 1914 as Franziska Schanzkowsky and lived there with a German family.

She disappeared from the home of this family, named Wingenberg, on Feb. 15, 1920 — two days before a woman later identified as Mrs. Anderson was pulled from a Berlin canal. The woman had attempted suicide.

Lived with Russians

She was taken to a mental institution and later lived with a Russian emigre family in Berlin, the baron of Kleist.

Mrs. Anderson was wearing the same dress that was worn by Miss Schanzkowsky the day of her disappearance. The baroness of Kleist bought her new clothes.

In 1922 Mrs. Anderson disappeared from the Kleist home for a brief stay with the Wingenberg family. The Wingenberg family's daughter presented her with a dark blue winter suit and the clothes bought by baroness of Kleist were left behind.

Later, they were identified at the Wingenberg home by the baroness. In turn, the Wingenberg daughter recognized her suit on a news photograph of Mrs. Anderson five years later.

The police files, as cited by the judge, also said Mrs. Anderson was confronted with four Schanzkowsky children in 1938.

One-Legged Pilot Found Four Stanford Students Stranded in Yosemite Park

BY HARRY JUPITER

Bishop, Calif. — A tall, one-legged man who believes in "getting things done and going through the red tape later" is the hero of California's High Sierra today.

Bob Symons, 48, has been called "the most fabulous pilot I've ever seen" by a number of pilots who need not take a back seat to anyone themselves.

Symons is Bishop's fire commissioner and a city councilman as well as a chief warrant officer in Squadron 66 of the Civil Air patrol. "They call us 'The Renegades,'" he laughs, "because we do a lot of things we're not supposed to do."

During the past week, Symons, with a variety of aerobatics, located the wreckage of a helicopter that was lost in the High Sierra, then guided a helicopter through heavy weather to the spot.

After a few hours of sleep he was called in by rangers at Yosemite National Park to find a quartet of Stanford university students who were stranded high in the park's mountains.

Found Hikers

He found the young hikers, dropped notes, food, medical supplies and then guided the army's big Flying Banana copter in for their rescue.

"When there's somebody in trouble, it fires me up," says Symons. "I know the mountains quite well. I've flown in them more than anybody else in the country."

"It's a challenge to see if I can help get these people out of the wilderness when they need it."

Symons, born in Bishop, lost his right leg in 1936 — in a hay chopper on his father's nearby ranch.

Does it hamper his flying? "Not a bit," he replied. "In fact, in a way, it's a help. The wooden leg never falls asleep. And I never worry about termites."

Symons has been flying since 1929 and has had a lot of experience with gliders. During World War II he was a glider instructor for the air force.

A versatile fellow in every sense he is also president of the Bishop Chamber of Commerce and runs his own flying service.

"My philosophy is: Rescue the guy first and to hell with the proper orders and the proper phone calls," he said.

Bob Symons, 48, has been called "the most fabulous pilot I've ever seen" by a number of pilots who need not take a back seat to anyone themselves.

Symons is Bishop's fire commissioner and a city councilman as well as a chief warrant officer in Squadron 66 of the Civil Air patrol. "They call us 'The Renegades,'" he laughs, "because we do a lot of things we're not supposed to do."

During the past week, Symons, with a variety of aerobatics, located the wreckage of a helicopter that was lost in the High Sierra, then guided a helicopter through heavy weather to the spot.

After a few hours of sleep he was called in by rangers at Yosemite National Park to find a quartet of Stanford university students who were stranded high in the park's mountains.

Found Hikers

He found the young hikers, dropped notes, food, medical supplies and then guided the army's big Flying Banana copter in for their rescue.

"When there's somebody in trouble, it fires me up," says Symons. "I know the mountains quite well. I've flown in them more than anybody else in the country."

"It's a challenge to see if I can help get these people out of the wilderness when they need it."

Symons, born in Bishop, lost his right leg in 1936 — in a hay chopper on his father's nearby ranch.

Does it hamper his flying? "Not a bit," he replied. "In fact, in a way, it's a help. The wooden leg never falls asleep. And I never worry about termites."

Symons has been flying since 1929 and has had a lot of experience with gliders. During World War II he was a glider instructor for the air force.

Residents of Green Bay Defeat Plan to Raise $500,000 in Bond Issue

Money Would Have Been Used to Buy Industrial Expansion Land

Milwaukee — Green Bay residents crushed in a referendum ballot Tuesday a proposal to raise $500,000 through a bond issue to purchase land for industrial expansion. The vote was 12,106 "no" to 2,308 "yes."

Other referendum issues before the voters in various Wisconsin cities in the spring election ranged from the old issues of wet or dry to fluoridation of municipal water supplies and proposed changes in forms of local government.

Under the plan rejected at Green Bay the city would have purchased 60 acres in the community and 260 acres in the adjoining town of Howard for resale to industrial firms seeking to locate in Green Bay.

Fluoridation Issue

Fluoridation of the municipal water supply was defeated at Platteville, where the vote was 882 against and 607 for.

Nekoosa voted to add the chemical to the city water supply, passing a referendum 590 to 234. Supporters of fluoridation claim it helps prevent tooth decay.

In the town of Preble residents rejected 2,075 to 1,099 a judge, elected without opposition.

Green county—Marshall L. Peterson, Monroe, present Green county judge. He was member of the College of Cardinals. Re-elected were Circuit Judges Francis X. Swietlik, Milwaukee, and Ferdinand H. Schlichting, Sheboygan, who after a long illness, ten cardinals over the Manitowoc-Sheboygan circuit.

Swietlik defeated Harry Haloway, Whitefish Bay attorney, by a big margin.

New Dog Law

By a vote of 1,156-322 Fort Atkinson voters decided that dog owners must keep their pets tied up or in the yard the year around. There were no votes for an alternate proposal that would have kept the dogs confined only from April 1 to Oct. 1.

At Viroqua, where the issue was on the ballot for the fifth time in ten years, the dry statute was retained by 90 vote margins with about 1,650 votes cast.

Superior voters approved a change from city manager form of government to mayor-alderman. The vote was 5,075 to 4,843.

AHS Talisman Gets Top Rating

The Talisman, Appleton High school's weekly newspaper, has been awarded a "first class" honor rating by the National Scholastic Press association. The AHS paper was the only one in its class to receive this rating.

The NSPA judges school newspapers in the junior high, high school, and college divisions, with various classes under each division. The ratings show how a paper compares with others in the same classification throughout the nation.

Papers are judged on three general aspects: coverage, content, and physical properties. In most of these categories and their divisions the AHS paper received ratings of excellent or very good.

Mary Quella is editor-in-chief of Talisman, with Judy Defferding and John Kellogg as news co-editors. Feature editor is Carolyn Ewald and sports editor is John Bubolz. Advisers for the editorial staff are Miss Marjorie Williams and E. John Goodrich.

Planners Okay Zone Changes

Also Approve Two Plats, Both Under Study Second Time

The city planning commission this morning approved three rezonings of property, turned down another, approved two plats and held another for more study.

These rezonings will be sent to the council tonight for approval.

A change to 2-family district for Chester Meiers' three lots on the east side of Maplecrest court, just south of W. Foster street.

A change to multiple family for Meiers' lots on the east side of N. Richmond street, north from W. Marquette street, with the exception of the first 107 feet. Meiers had asked for rezoning of one lot only but the recommendation involves about five lots.

A change to commercial and light manufacturing district for Wisconsin Michigan Power and Clyde Chumbley, bobcat pin.

Gold and silver arrows under bear badge were awarded to Bruce Dezar, Jeffrey Hutton, Richard Rach, Wayne Stillings and James Tennermann.

the land was sold by Don and Willard Calmes to Arthur Hietpas, Gerald Quimby and Leonard Wiese and now is called the Woodland Manor plat.

It shows 26 lots instead of the original 19, the added lots gained through putting in two minor.

Mrs. Bertha Ashman's request for a change to local business district of her property at 206 S. Memorial drive was denied. A remonstrance, signed by 13, was filed.

Dr. William Madson's plat at the far southeast corner of the city, is being held pending a talk with the doctor. Planners today felt the street layout could be improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dickrell were permitted to withdraw their request to have their property at 818 N. Superior street rezoned to local business district. A remonstrance also is on file in this case.

Garvey Subdivision

One of the approved plats is a final one, the other a tentative one.

The final one, the Garvey Second Subdivision, is being recommended for the second time. It was approved on March 6, 1957, but was not recorded with the register of deeds within the specified time. As resubmitted, it is the same as before, showing 109 lots between N. Ballard road and N. Ullman street and between a half block north of E. Lindbergh street and a half block south of E. Marquette street. The Huntley school is bordered on three sides by the plat.

The controversial rezoning of part of the plat along N. Ballard to multiple family district is being studied while the plat is being resubmitted. A remonstrance has been filed.

The tentative plat also is a resubmitted one. It originally came in as the Calmes plat, but lost to Roland J. Steinle of Milwaukee, 297,369 to 200,224. In 1956, Justice Thomas E. Fairchild won an overwhelming 574,429 to 165,953 decision over Dieterich. A special election in 1955 saw 520,544 ballots cast for Justice Grover Broadfoot, who was unopposed.

Dieterich Wins Over Wingert For High Court

Dieterich moved into the lead as the first scattered precincts reported and added to it slowly as counting progressed.

Loses Milwaukee County Wingert held his home Dane county by more than a 5,000 vote margin, but despite a show of strength in suburban Milwaukee Republican areas, the metropolitan county moved into the Dieterich column by a narrow margin of 2,838 to 2,589. The last time a sitting supreme court justice was defeated was in 1947, when J. Ward Rector lost to Circuit Judge Henry P. Hughes of Oshkosh. Rector had been appointed to the bench by the late Gov. Walter S. Goodland. Hughes retired in 1951.

One vacancy remains on the supreme court. Justice Steinle resigned March 2 to seek Republican state convention endorsement as a GOP candidate for the U. S. Senate. His post will be filled by gubernatorial appointment.

were Sens. Cooper (R-Ky.) and Revercomb (R-WVa.).

(Sen. Wiley voted for the delay. Sen. Proxmire favored immediate action.)

With the public works measure laid aside, the senate agreed to take up at today's session a compromise bill approved by the house yesterday to authorize future construction of $11 billion worth of water projects.

Housing, highways and government spending figured elsewhere in anti-recession legislation, while outside congress the federal reserve board reported the first slight dip in total consumer installment credit since late 1954. Autos and major appliances led the decline.

Agree on Compromise A senate-house conference committee reached agreement on a compromise highway construction speed-up bill designed to provide thousands of new jobs to fight the recession.

Final action is scheduled in both the senate and the house tomorrow.

Kept in the bill, which carries an extra $1,800,000,000 of federal-state funds over present programs, was a hotly disputed provision for regulation of billboards along the 41,000-mile system of expressways.

Another bill intended to give the economy a lift, a $1,850,000,000 housing measure, was signed by Eisenhower yesterday despite his criticism of some features of it.

On still another front, the senate appropriations committee gave quick approval to one of Eisenhower's proposals for combatting the business slump.

Approved a day earlier by the house, it would authorize federal agencies to place orders promptly for up to $840 million worth of supplies and equipment they otherwise might not buy for months.

Officers File 'Test Suits'

Bonn, Germany—Three former Polish officers have filed test damage suits against the West German government, charging mistreatment and personal losses while war prisoners of the Nazis.

The suits will be heard by a Bonn court. If decided in favor of the Poles, they will be followed by claims on behalf of some 700 other Polish ex-servicemen.

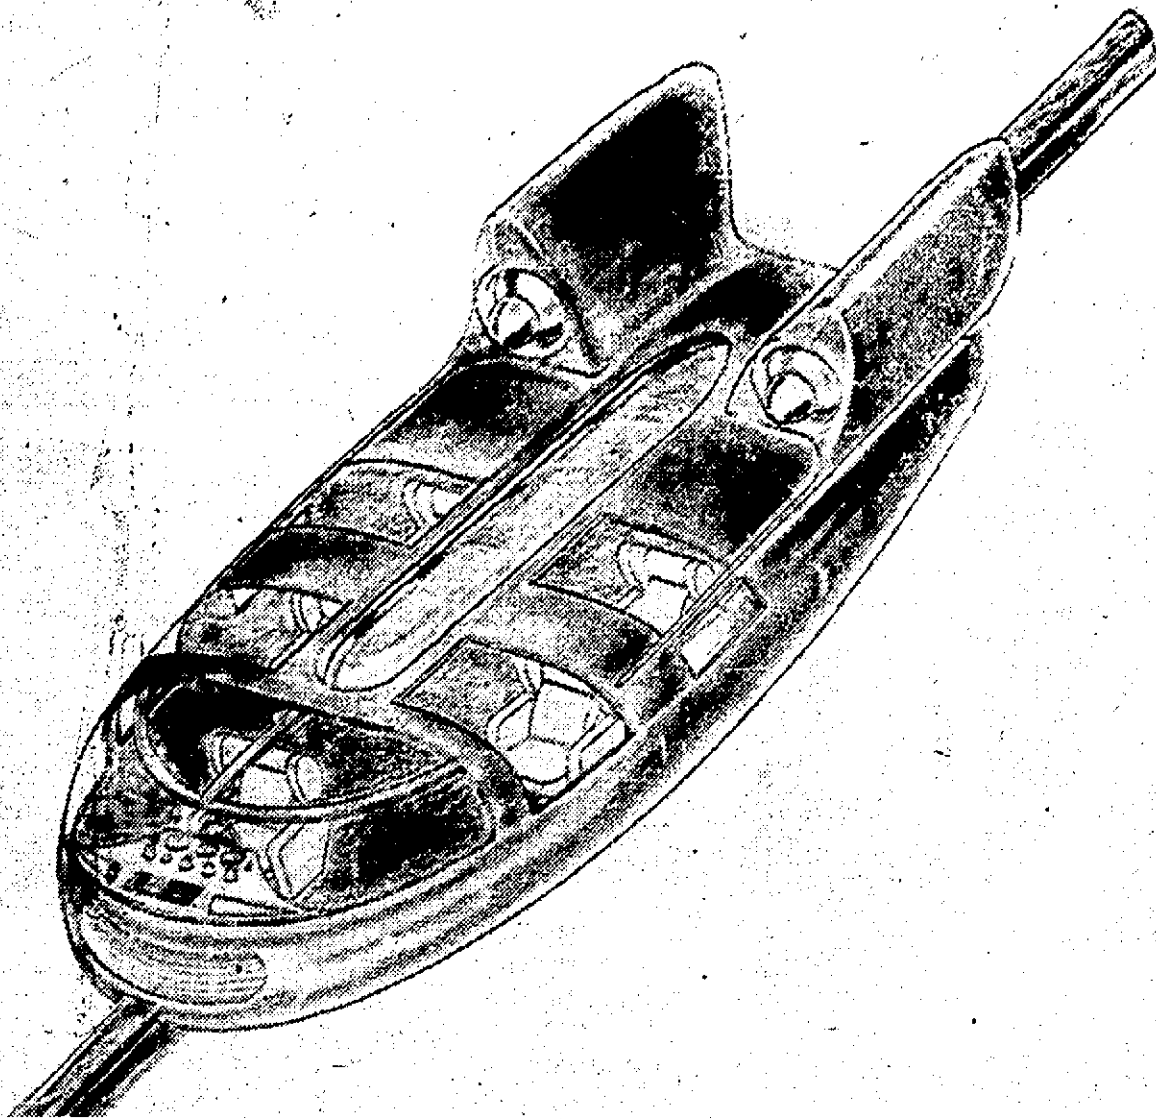

The Bonn government is being sued as legal successor of Hitler's third reich.

The three claimants are Maj. Joseph Weisbach of Chicago, and a Capt. Franziszek and Warrant Officer Witold Szlachetko, both living in England.

They allege breach of the Geneva and the Hague conventions of war. They claim bodily damage through starvation and mistreatment and financial losses because they were not paid while captives, as provided under the conventions.

A spokesman said the Bonn government does not recognize the right of individuals to present claims under the Geneva and Hague conventions.

Ike Says Red Nuclear Ban Just a Gimmick with much emphasis regarding his plans for reorganization of the defense department. Eisenhower left no doubt that he feels the secretary of defense must be given additional authority.

He said the reorganization program, which he plans to send to congress tomorrow, must make it perfectly clear as to just what the responsibility of the secretary of defense is.

In these days, he went on, there is no such thing as separate ground, air and sea forces—they must be an integrated team.

Leadership Needed

Asked for comment on Bernard M. Baruch's suggestion that prices ought to be cut in the light of the business slump, Eisenhower replied that there must be leadership by both business and labor if a free economy is going to operate successfully over the years.

He added that he has known and respected Baruch for a good many years, and said he always takes seriously whatever advice the elder statesman-financier gives him. Eisenhower said he has not abandoned hope that Russia will become sufficiently conciliatory to make possible an agreement on such problems as disarmament.

He also mentioned a ban on nuclear testing in that same connection. It was at this point that he said the Soviet Union's test ban announcement this week was just a gimmick—a side issue not to be taken seriously.

Defends On Stand

Commenting on a remark by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) that the president is surrounded by a palace guard which does not always keep him well informed, Eisenhower said with a show of irritation that it is just ridiculous to talk about a palace guard.

He added that of course he depends upon his staff. If he didn't, and if every matter had to be discussed with him personally, he said he would be worn out in a week's time.

Going back to his army days, Eisenhower said that since 1941 he has been relying on staff advice.

The president said his staff sorts out matters for him, and that he also gets information from his cabinet and the national security council.

Further, Eisenhower went on, the heads of all government agencies are advised that they may come to him at any time with their problems.

Eisenhower was asked for his views on what effect the trend in industry to automation—or replacement of manpower in some instances—is having on the character of Americans.

He replied that the reporter had raised one of the greatest philosophical questions before the public today.

But automation is not a wicked thing in itself, Eisenhower said. On the contrary, it is good as long as it is used for the betterment of the human spirit.

London's financial district was rocked by a Scotland Yard investigation and charges against Whitehead and four others.

Whitehead spent last night in jail 100 yards from the luxurious office suite where he ran the firm that sponsored the issue of almost 700 million stock shares, largely to small investors.

After arraignment this morning he was released on bail of 5,000 pounds ($14,000). His four co-defendants, released on much lower bail, are Eric James Limpkin, 38, a financial consultant; Edwin John Hill, 54, Whitehead's investment manager; Cecil Stanley Barnett, 53, financial writer for a London newspaper; and Leonard Charles Cole, 54, a stockbroker. An Estimated Loss of $40,000 was caused by fire at Van Nuland's Arcade bowling alleys and bar Tuesday night. All the Van Nuland family's belongings were destroyed in second floor living quarters. The bar was closed for election day and Van Nuland discovered the fire about 7:40 when he prepared to open for business. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Thousands of Spectators Jammed Little Chute around Van Nuland's bowling alleys and bar Tuesday, attracted by dense smoke and leaping flames as fire destroyed the building for the second time in 11 years. Fire Destroys Bar, Alleys, Routs Family of Seven

Damage at Van Nuland's Arcade Estimated At $40,000; Household Belongings Lost

Little Chute — Fire raced through the Arcade bowling alleys and bar Tuesday night, causing an estimated $40,000 damage. A family of seven was routed from the living quarters.

Volunteer firemen battled the blaze for three hours before bringing it under control. Firemen were hampered in their efforts by dense smoke from fire eating through walls and partitions before breaking out of the roof of the 2-story frame building.

Harry Van Nuland, owner and operator of the bar and alleys, discovered the fire about 7:40 when he was preparing to open for business. He called the fire department and alerted his family in the living quarters on the second floor.

Closed for Election

The bar and the alleys were closed for election day and there had been no one in the establishment all day, Van Nuland said.

The blaze spread quickly and prevented saving any of the family's belongings.

Fire Chief Les Sanders said he was not certain of the cause of the fire but it appeared to have started in the basement or in the men's toilet room on the first floor.

Jam of Spectators

Thousands of spectators jammed the area to see the blaze and cars were parked for blocks around.

Smoke blanketed the village before the fire broke through to the outside. Homes and business places in the area were not damaged.

Chief Sanders said the department used about 3,000 feet of hose in seven lines to bring the fire under control. Water was pumped onto the structure at a rate of about 500 gallons a minute.

Living quarters of the Van Nuland family, directly above the bar and alleys, were destroyed. The family is staying with friends.

Firemen remained at the scene pouring water on the ruins until 3 o'clock this morning.

It was the second time in 11 years the building was destroyed by fire. In 1947, a similar blaze burned out the inside of the establishment.

Members of the Outagamie county Red Cross chapter served coffee and sandwiches at the fire Tuesday night, and this morning were trying to aid the family, which lost all personal belongings.

Couple's Loop Honors Shared

Kaukauna — Lothar Kemp topped a 202 game and Gene Kronforst hit a 525 series to share individual honors in the Sunday Couple's league at S and B alleys.

Team honors went to Kronforst's with a 343 game and a 584 series. Hooyman's won two games from Roger's to finish the season in first place. Johnson's, the only team with a chance of overtaking the leaders, also won two games on the final night to finish a game behind the leaders. Kronforst's ended in third place.

The only other honor count was a 199 game by Evelyn Pendleton.

Mixed Double's

No honor counts were posted in the Saturday Mixed Doubles league at S and B alleys but team honors went to Mangold's with a 378 game and a 1,034 series.

Mangold's won two games to hold the league lead with 33 wins and 12 defeats. Watson's won three games to move into second place, three games behind the leaders. Rieth's, four games out, dropped to third place after losing one game.

Less Than 30 Per Cent Of Voters Cast Ballots

Ward Races Were Only Attraction For City Residents

Kaukauna—Slightly less than 30 per cent of the registered voters in Kaukauna went to the polls Tuesday as no city offices were being contested and only two wards had aldermanic races.

Two wards also had races for county supervisor and in Wingert had 122 in the First, one the only incumbent was defeated. Merritt T. Kavarough Third, 135 in the Fourth and 77 defeated Theodore Barbier in the Fifth.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon was the top vote getter in the city-wide elections polling 1,159 votes representing 254 in the First ward, 214 in the Second, 179 in the Third, 389 in the Fourth and 123 in the Fifth.

Miss Ruth Wolf received 1,148 votes for treasurer including 242 in the First, 211 in the Second, 174 in the Third, 400 in the Fourth and 121 in the Fifth.

Karl E. Merzahl, city clerk, received 1,146 votes including 236 in the First, 209 in the Second, 174 in the Third, 398 in the Fourth and 129 in the Fifth.

City Atty. John Esler garnered 1,134 votes with 240 in the First, 211 in the Second, 176 in the Third, 387 in the Fourth and 127 in the Fifth.

Kemp, assessor, picked up 1,114 votes including 242 in the First ward, 206 in the Second, 170 in the Third, 381 in the Fourth and 115 in the Fifth.

Dr. George Behnke received 981 votes to be returned as

Township Votes To Celebrate 100th Birthday

Kaukauna — Plans to celebrate the 100th birthday of the township sometime this summer were made at the annual meeting of the Town of Buchanan Tuesday.

The township is 100 years old this year and residents of the area authorized the volunteer fire department to make arrangements for the celebration. The firemen will appoint committees to handle various details. One of the main features of the event will be a dance at the fire station.

In other action the residents authorized to have various culverts or small bridges in the township repaired in keeping with the policy of replacing at least one obsolete culvert each year.

A discussion was held on the advisability of joining the Fox Valley Regional planning commission but residents decided to table any action for one year to permit further study of the matter.

Ward Candidates

First ward Ald. Bert Roberts received 238 votes without competition. Second Ward Ald. Earl Luedtke without opposition garnered 203 votes and Third ward Ald. George Simon without opposition received 176 votes.

County supervisors returned to office without opposition were Jacob Weyenberg in the Second ward with 226 votes, Matt Verfurth in the Third ward with 181 votes and Russell De La Hunt in the Fifth ward with 127 votes.

Pilate's Wife, Claudia, Found Faith As Helpless Bystander to Execution

BY GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

She jerked awake and sat up in bed, her eyes wide and terrified. The dream still churned in her mind, and she still could hear the mad howling . . . almost as if it were real. She stiffened. It was real!

With a sweep of her arms, Claudia Procula yanked the netting from around her canopied bed, and called out for her slaves. Oh gods, she murmured, oh invisible fates.

The maids came running, bringing trays of fruit, but she waved the food aside and ordered them to dress her at once. She clasped the tiny icon of Juno at her breast, breathing a supplication.

Outside on the lithostrotos, she could hear the taut rise and fall of voices parleying, and at intervals, the mass growl of a mob. A grim, fearful noise it was, as if issuing from the throat of a single, mindless, creature.

The horror of her nightmare swept her again, and perspiration misted her body. She spun away from the wardrobe maids, knotting the sash about her stola herself.

(This is the second in a 4-part series on the little-known actors in the Easter story, derived in part from non-canonical Christian books and from oral tradition recorded after a passage of years.)

She hurried down the corridor toward the open platform of the praetorium. The sentries at the archway saluted, slapping arms to chest, at her approach. Claudia halted, just inside the portal, listening.

"We found this man perverting our nation . . . saying that He is Christ a King!" The voice was stern, disdainful. " . . . Let Him be crucified!" Then came Pilate's voice querulous, evasive, and intermittently, that inhuman crowd sound.

He is Christ a King! The voice was stern, disdainful. " . . . Let Him be crucified!" Then came Pilate's voice querulous, evasive, and intermittently, that inhuman crowd sound.

A little moan escaped Claudia's lips, and she suddenly felt weak. The vision of her troubled sleep flooded her anew, and she retreated toward her rooms. So they, too, wanted blood.

The circumstances had a horrible resemblance to the fantasies of her night. Without doubt, the spirits of Hesperides, or furies of the abyss, had brought her this message, this warning. It was as if the very stars had spoken.

Just as in her dream, her husband sat before the multitude — only it had been in an amphitheater, yes, that was it, an arena as big as the circus at Rome — and a heroic man was at the stake. A nightmare swarm of eyes had glinted all around, while a whole world roared for death.

She had been there, too, at Pilate's side in the box, and a red-orange glow, mixed with shade of Nona. It was up to Pilate now, just as in the dream, to give the word. Only he had the authority.

And then . . . Claudia clapped a hand to her eyes, her throat quivering. Oh heavenly sisters, oh guardian angels, "For this I was born, and shade of Nona. It was up to Pilate now, just as in the dream, to give the word. Only he had the authority.

At a loss for what to do, the man, Claudia could see Claudia summoned a garrison officer, questioning him about the case being heard by Pilate. He confirmed, as she feared, that the man was Jesus of Galilee. She picked up a feather quill and dipped it in the ink, hesitating.

The nightmare rose before her, the face of the doomed, the crowd, the death cries, the memory of Pilate jabbing his thumb downward, and instead of beasts, it was a flame springing out at the faggots piled in the arena about the Great One.

Then she had felt herself caught up in a wild wave of humanity, herself and her husband, too, his eyes glazed and unseeing, hurled into a trampling maelstrom, a death frenzy of men and women, dark figures, crazed, tangle-haired, toothless.

Grows Larger

But the doomed man mystifyingly had grown larger, his stature rising above the teeming multitude, and he had spread his arms over them all, and she had seen the face, the kind, wise face of the Galilean, pitying and sorrowing above the world's turmoil.

The pen shook in Claudia's hand as she touched it to the parchment. "Have nothing to do with that righteous man," she wrote, "for I have suffered much over Him today in a dream." She folded it, and sent a servant with it to Pilate.

It was all she could do.

But she knew Pilate, knew his vain temporizing, his expedient grasping to preserve his power, his brutality. He would stamp his seal on the grim verdict: Crucify the Christ.

As recorded in the ancient Acts of Pilate, presumably taken later from his report in the archives of Rome, Claudia that day "neither ate nor drank," and for a long time, was "exceedingly grieved."

Her husband remarked sardonically to some priests, "You know, my wife is a worshipper of God."

Elect New Trustee At Combined Locks

Combined Locks — Carl Nagman, seeking his first political office, Tuesday was elected a trustee of the village of Combined Locks and, in the process, collected the largest vote total of the election.

Nagman received 129 votes, compared to incumbent Edward Lindberg's 127 total. Walter Wildenberg, another incumbent, received 94 votes.

Two others running for three open seats were Joseph Stein, 67 votes, and Edward Van Cuyk, 58.

John Opsteen, incumbent trustee, did not seek reelection.

Holy Week, Easter Services at Kimberly

Three Churches Set Schedule for Feasts To Commemorate Lord

Kimberly — Special holy week and Easter Sunday services have been scheduled to commemorate the passion, death and resurrection of our Lord at the three Kimberly churches.

Holy Name Catholic church will have low masses at 4 and 5 o'clock Holy Thursday evening and there will be a solemn high mass at 6 o'clock followed by a procession and adoration of the blessed sacrament until midnight.

On Good Friday the mass of the presanctified will be offered at 5 o'clock in the evening and communion will be distributed.

Holy Saturday will have a solemn high mass at 8 o'clock in the evening preceded by the blessing of the Easter candle and holy water.

A special schedule of masses has been set for Easter Sunday with masses in the morning at 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 9:15, 11 o'clock and 12:15. The 9:15 mass will be a solemn high mass.

Confessions will be heard by Coyness Ennix, the sole Negro member of the board. He said he felt the plan was too slow.

Briscoe said he was amazed at the recession alarms in this country. "When I see what a vast machine the great United States is today, I realize that the resources of America are virtually unscratched," he said. He is touring to encourage American investment and tourist trade in Ireland.

40-Day Lenten Period Will Climax With Easter Morning Masses

Appleton Churches Announce Worship
Schedules for Holy Week, Sunday

The 40-day period of penance and self - denial, particularly intensive during holy week, will conclude Sunday with the feast of Easter, the most significant feast on the Christian calendar.

In Catholic churches the festival will be preceded by the somber ceremonies of Maundy Thursday and Good Friday while the Easter vigil, filled with pageantry and color, will climax the lenten period.

On Maundy Thursday, Christians observe Jesus' institution of the eucharist and, in Catholic churches, it is on that day that hosts for Good Friday communion are consecrated and transferred to the altar of repose, one of the side altars.

Altars are stripped Thursday to recall how Christ was stripped of His garments during His passion and church bells are silenced not to ring again until Saturday evening.

No Masses

Because Good Friday is one of mourning and prayerful contemplation of the cross, no masses are said for the Roman Catholic laity. Good Friday services consist of four parts: Scripture readings, solemn prayers, adoration of the cross and communion.

The altar remains bare while the celebrant and ministers are garbed in sorrowful black. During the adoration of the cross, the coverings which have veiled it since Passion Sunday are removed and the symbol is held up for all to see.

The Easter vigil, for many years held on Easter Saturday morning has been moved back and now can precede the mid-night mass or be held Saturday evening. Both will be done in Appleton churches. However, as a consequence, lent no longer ends at noon Saturday but at midnight Saturday.

The vigil includes the blessing of new fire, blessing of the Easter candle, the lighting of all candles and a procession, the litany of saints, the blessing of Easter and baptismal water and the renewal of baptismal vows.

Kindling the new fire from a stone flint is an image of Christ's new presence among men for, it is said, as the spark leaps from the flint, so life arose from the rock tomb. All lights in the church are extinguished so all may be relighted from the Easter candle, symbol of Christ as the sole light of the world.

Significant Mass
Before the procession, the priest's candle is kindled from the Easter fire, the procession moves to the center of the church and the candles of all the people are lighted—a symbol that the light of Christ illumines all men.

The culmination in the blessing of baptismal water is reached when the Easter candle is lowered into the water and raised out again — as Christ was lowered into death and rose from the tomb. Thus the water becomes a symbol both

Grand Chute Firemen Answer 35 Calls in Year

Grand Chute volunteer firemen answered 35 calls during the year ended March 31, Chief Vincent Baum reports.

Causes of fires and number of runs for each were grass fires, 8; car and truck fires, 7; tractor fires, 3; electric motor fires, 3; and garage fires, 2.

House fires accounted for eight runs, including five chimney blazes.

Industrial fire calls included a utility pole, slaughter yard pen and a motor hoist.

The unit held 12 drills and expended a total of 262 man hours, Baum stated.

Records are not kept of total estimated town fire losses.

Two Prisoners Receive 12 Strokes With Whip

Melbourne, Australia.—A masked man today gave two prisoners at Melbourne's Pentridge jail 12 strokes each with a water-soaked cat-o'-nine-tails.

Murderer William John O'Meally, 37, and Gunman John Henry Taylor, 27, were whipped for shooting at a guard during an escape attempt. It was the first such whipping in this area in 15 years and was a hot political issue during the trial of the two men.

of death and life — man's death to sin and his resurrection to Christ.

Many Easter vigils reach their climax with the celebration of the mass, the most significant mass of the year, for it is the anniversary of Christ's passage from death to the resurrection.

The holy week schedule in Appleton Catholic churches is as follows:

St. Joseph: Low masses at 8 o'clock in the morning, 4 o'clock, 5 o'clock and 6 o'clock in the afternoon on Maundy Thursday. The way of the cross at 2:30 Friday afternoon and solemn liturgical action at 6 o'clock that evening when communion will be distributed. The Easter vigil will begin at 10:45 Saturday night climaxed by a midnight mass. Sunday masses will be celebrated at 5:30, 6:45, 8 o'clock, 9:15, 10:45 and 12 o'clock.

Sacred Heart: Low masses at 8 o'clock in the morning, 5:30 and 7:30 in the evening followed by an all night adoration of the blessed sacrament. The Good Friday service begins at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and the Easter vigil is scheduled for 11 o'clock Saturday night followed by midnight mass. Sunday masses will be said at 7 o'clock, 8:15, 9:30, 11 o'clock and 12:15.

Other Churches
St. Mary: Low masses at 8 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock and 6:30 Maundy Thursday afternoon. The Good Friday service begins at 12:30 in the afternoon and the Easter vigil at 6:30 Saturday night. No midnight mass will be held and Sunday masses are scheduled for 6 o'clock, 7:30, 9:30, 10:30 and 12 o'clock.

St. Therese: Low masses at 8 o'clock in the morning and 8 o'clock in the evening with an all night vigil on Maundy Thursday. The Good Friday service is scheduled from 12 o'clock to 3 o'clock in the afternoon and stations of the cross will be said at 7:30 that night. The Easter vigil will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday night and, again, no midnight mass will be held. Sunday morning masses are listed for 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 10 o'clock, 11 o'clock and 12 o'clock.

St. Pius X: Thursday, Friday and Saturday services will be held with St. Therese congregation. Easter morning masses will be celebrated at 7 o'clock, 8:15, 9:45 and 11 o'clock.

Egg, Symbol of Life, Can be 'Object d' Art' Glorifying Easter

Eggs decorated in the Ukrainian style, heralding Easter, can be termed objects d' art, provinces. Either raw or hard-boiled eggs may be used in the coloring process. Fresh eggs prove characters of the Sun-God. For to be most satisfactory, however, centuries the egg, symbol of life, has been a part of the Easter story.

With the arrival of Christianity, crosses and other sacred figures became known, and later with the passage of time, patterns of design became indicative of an agricultural nation. It has long been the custom in the Soviet Ukraine for the inhabitants to prototype these symbols upon the egg, transforming it with intricate pictures of different hues. The design and the colors used vary in the different towns and provinces.

The traditional Ukrainian colors in their order of appearance on the egg, include yellow, orange, red, and black. Vegetable dyes can be used but do not always produce vivid, brilliant colors and may not cover the egg evenly. Fabric dyes or imported aniline dyes will also give the adequate coloring, as will the colored solution you obtain by soaking crepe paper in hot water and then allowing it to cool.

In addition to the eggs and the dye used, you will need to assemble a stylus, beeswax, and a clear varnish. The stylus is a small stick having on the end of it a minute metal funnel through which melted wax is poured onto the egg.

The procedure which children as young as five years can grasp, includes the following steps: Decide upon the desired design; (rubber bands make good guides for children to use). Place small pieces of beeswax, which may be purchased at notions counters, into the funnel and melt with the flame of a candle. Apply the wax to the egg in the pattern you wish, keeping in mind that the places which you cover will remain white until, later, the wax is removed and the egg is dipped again into dye. When the framework of the design is completed and the wax is set, carefully dip the egg into the dye. The Ukrainian custom calls for yellow dye to be utilized first.

Creating A Design

Now, the part of the design which will remain yellow (or any color you have chosen to use initially) will be covered with wax and the dipping is repeated, this time into a darker shade of dye. The decorator may continue with this step as many times as is called for in the individual's geometric or free-hand design, always moving from the lighter to the darker hues, exercising creativity in choice of color and development of design, whether it be abstract, floral, implemental, or a combination of several.

Each succeeding color covers the lighter color except where there is a film or line of wax to protect it from further coloration. To dry the now colorful egg, place it in the oven under a gentle heat until the heat-dried wax can be delicately wiped off with a cloth. If the egg has turned out particularly well and you wish to preserve it, brush on a light coat of clear varnish, which will act as a preservative.

It is the Ukraine custom for children to exchange their brightly colored treasures. The finished eggs with extraordinary fine designs are saved, but most find their way into hungry hands and mouths. The older children too, have a popular tradition. Any boy, by giving to a girl a lovely colored egg, has earned the right to kiss her.

Learning to Color Eggs, Ukrainian style, are, from left to right, Judy Kuchenbecker, Neenah, Susie Ferris, Menasha, and Alice Dunwiddie, Neenah. They were among several Sunday school children of the Fox Valley Liberal Religious fellowship who met Saturday at the Leonard Weis home, 1501 S. Alicia drive, Appleton, to learn the custom of producing decorative Easter eggs which are ultimately exchanged by the children. (Post-Crescent Photos)

With Tiny funnel, apply melted wax on egg, to etch on desired design.

Dip Egg into dye solution, moving from lighter to darker shades until the entire pattern has been completed.

After the Coloring process has been completed, the eggs may be placed in a warm oven to dry. The melted thin film of wax may then be cleaned off with a cloth, not damaging the creative portraiture.

Beautifully Decorated Eggs make a lovely Easter centerpiece and can be preserved by applying a coat of clear varnish on the dried, finished eggs.

Best Lighting Depends on Size of Room

A new set of home lighting standards recommends lighting according to the size of the room. The figures released by the American Home Lighting Institute are these:

Very small rooms, up to 125 square feet, need a 12-to-15 inch ceiling fixture equipped with a 100-watt or three 40-watt bulbs. If the user likes wall lighting, he can use a 6-foot valance or cornice. Average rooms between 125 and 225 square feet need a 15 to 17-inch ceiling fixture with one 150 watt or five 40-watt bulbs. The alternative is 8 to 12 feet of wall lighting.

Larger rooms over 225 square feet call for 16 to 20 feet of wall lighting. These may be supplemented by low-hanging ceiling fixtures in corners and activity centers.

State Elks Parley May 16-18

Tell Women's Agenda

Program events for the women attending the state convention of the Wisconsin Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to be held May 16-18 in Appleton at the local Elks lodge have been announced by Mrs. James Schuitz and Mrs. Joseph Maldari, co-chairmen of the women's activities.

Agenda for the weekend conclave will include a tour of Elm Tree Bakery on Friday afternoon, May 16, with a closing coffee hour, and a luncheon and style show at Butte des Morts Golf club on Saturday afternoon.

Convention participants will register on Friday and Saturday at the Elks lodge, with four committees of local Elks women assisting at recording periods.

Delegates arriving on Friday will be invited to attend the bakery tour at 3 o'clock, and the following coffee hour. The Mmes. William Hart, Roy Schumacher and Marvin Olson will be hostesses.

On Saturday, women will assemble at 12:30 at Butte des Morts for the luncheon, with a style show to continue until 4:30 in the afternoon. Dress and jewelry fashions will be shown in the parade, with the cooperation of the H. C. Prange company and Hupka Jewelry, respectively.

Arrangements for the luncheon and style show are being handled by the Mmes. Al Mulder, Joseph Moriarty, Elde Wagner, Roger Harriman and Russell Peotter. The Mmes. Ray Max, Milton Rueckl and Wesley Reeder are in charge of tickets.

Committees staffing registration desks and respective times on Friday will be the Mmes. David Bliss, James Van Rooy, Robert Liethen, Ralph Kennedy and Neal Bartosic, from 9 to 2 o'clock, and the Mmes. Martin Hupka, Martin Werner, Gerry Disney, Ralph Kennedy and Leroy Breitenbach, from 2 to 7 o'clock.

Assisting at Saturday morning and afternoon registration will be the Mmes. Richard Adams, William Dagneau, George Wales, Ray Treiber, Jr., and Elmer Kelly, from 8:30 to 1:30, and the Mmes. Steven Ward, and Dean Younger and the Misses Joyce Barlow and Margie Johnson, from 1:30 to 6:30.

Other convention committee members include Mrs. Charles Klucker, who will present convention gifts to out-of-town registrants, and the Mmes. Robert Lindsey and Richard Mullen, who will assist in the ladies lounge at the club.

Lawrence Alum to Give Benefit Concert

One of Lawrence conservatory's outstanding graduates will return next week to present a recital for the benefit of the Lawrence Development fund. The concert, to be held at the conservatory recital hall at 8:30 Thursday night, April 10, will present the young pianist Charles Crowder.

Still in his twenties, Crowder has had a busy musical life since graduating from Lawrence as a piano major in 1952. A pupil of Gladys Ives Brainard at Lawrence, he continued his piano study with the late Isabelle Vengerova while a graduate student at Columbia university teachers college in New York.

In November, 1953, he entered the navy in which he attended Officers candidate school at Newport, R. I., and was commissioned with the rank of ensign in April of 1954. He was subsequently stationed at the Pentagon where he held the rank of Lieutenant JC and the position of top secret control officer in the communications division of the office of the chief of naval operations.

Soloist for Navy

While in the navy, he kept up his music studies and was heard as soloist with the navy orchestra on a nationwide radio recruiting broadcast.

Crowder was discharged a year ago and resumed formal piano study, this time with Olga Stroumillo, and has completed his master of arts degree at Columbia. He is currently teaching at his private studio in Arlington, Va., and is concertizing and lecturing in the Washington area.

Tickets for the concert are now available at the conservatory office and at leading music stores in Appleton.

The group will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening April 8, for another card session in the hall.

Policemen's Unit Plans Bus Trip To Milwaukee

A bus tour of Miller Brewing company and Goodwill Industries in Milwaukee will be taken by the Appleton Policemen's Wives on April 16. Trip plans were completed Tuesday night at the unit's monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Wayne Huebner, 1315 E. Byrd street.

Mrs. Carl Kunitz will hold the May meeting at her home and will be assisted by Mrs. Clarence Denny, co-hostess.

Prize winners Tuesday night went to canasta players, including the Mmes. John Vander Wyck, Frank Bleick, David Young, Norbert Marx and Denny.

Easter Egg Hunt

The most important part of the picnic is the Easter egg hunt. The rule has always been that the children go off and play as soon as we arrive at the picnic site while Mom and Dad hide the jelly bean eggs, usually in at least three sizes. Little ones count one, middle-sized ones two and the big ones five. Once the eggs are hidden, the children can come back and help make the fire and prepare breakfast.

The menu is always the same: fruit juice, bacon and eggs, hot cocoa and toasted muffins. The eggs are carried uncooked, but they must all be colored in traditional Easter colors. It's a lot harder to dye raw eggs than hard cooked ones — but it can be done. Each child picks his color, breaks his own eggs into the pan at the right moment. Then we all sit down to a good hearty breakfast.

Attend Easter Services

Once the egg hunt is over and the winner duly rewarded we all traipse home in time to have baths and get dressed up for the Easter morning service.

Our children have always enjoyed this expedition not only because it has always been fun in itself but because it's ours. They have enjoyed introducing their friends to the family tradition. There have been some children who have been with us from kindergarten to high school.

Miss Margie Jochman announced the engagement of her daughter of Mr. Leonard Jochman, 620 W. Marquette street, who is a student at St. Mary School of Nursing, Milwaukee, was capped in a traditional ceremony on Friday.

Irate Ann Says Responsibility For Parents Not Son's Alone

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: My parents live with us. They are 78 and 82 years old. I have brothers and sisters but somehow the folks seem to be my responsibility because I was the last to marry.

My wife is so sick of having them in the house she's talked about taking her life. Her doctor said she's heading for a nervous breakdown. As it is, she has ulcers.

My folks never leave the house. They walk from one room to another all day. We can never have any company. They watch TV until all hours and sleep until noon. Their small pension goes for medicine and I pay the doctor bills.

My brothers and sisters never take the folks any place, or buy them anything. They have money for their own vacations, poker-games and night-clubs but they ignore the folks.

Is it too much to expect them to take their parents to church on Sunday and have them over for a meal once in a while? Please help me.—A.SON.

Dear Son: I read many letters, but THIS one made me so furious I can hardly see to type.

Call a family meeting immediately. Tell your brothers and sisters this is no social invitation, it's a command performance — and if they don't come, that you'll see them in court. Under the circumstances you could sue them for their fair share of their aged parent's keep.

Give them three choices. (1) Chip in and put the folks up in an apartment (2) Take turns keeping the folks in their homes (3) Put them in a nursing home and split the cost.

When you married, your wife became your first obligation (look in Genesis). Shame on you for ruining this girl's health and permitting your brothers and sisters to shirk their responsibility. Write and tell me how it works out.

DEAR ANN: I can't resist replying to B.J.D. and others who feel superior to women who don't LOVE housework. It doesn't take much mentality to scrub a floor.

I'm frank to admit that housework bores me. But my home is not a pig-sty. My family knows what it is to have homemade stews, cakes, pies and hot breads.

I consider housework a job I must do and I get through it as quickly as possible so I'll have time for more interesting things.

I regard a sink as something to peel potatoes in, and run-water through. I keep mine clean, but I don't make a fetish of it. Where did you get the notion that a clean sink is "a thing of beauty"? Ann Landers? That one threw me!—O.N.S.

DEAR O.N.S.: Beauty is in the eye of the beholder. And when I behold a sparkling, immaculate sink, it is to me a thing of beauty.

Of course a sink is not beautiful in the same sense that it can be compared with a painting by Greuze, dew-drops on a rose, or a baby's smile. But a clean sink has a "beauty" of its own—and the notion is mine.

DEAR ANN: Our daughter is almost 15. We don't allow her to date but she's permitted to go to school dances with her girl friends. Her father drives her to the school and picks her up.

She baby-sits in the neighborhood for a nice family. Last week she made a date with a boy in her class to come over and watch TV with her while she sat. He left at 10:30. She never mentioned this to us, but the lady was told the details by her youngster.

The woman was upset because our daughter entertained a guest alone in her home. She asked if I knew about it, and I admitted I did not.

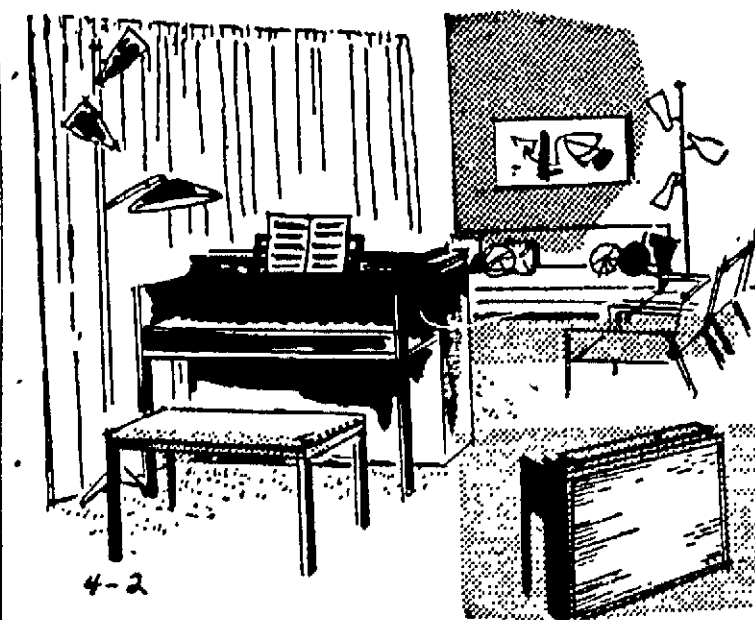

My daughter has promised not to do this again. She realizes it was wrong. Shall we trust her or make her stop sitting?—A.B.C.

Trust her, by all means, and let her know she's on her honor. If you don't permit her to exercise her integrity, she won't have much.

A high school girl should be able to accept dates to school affairs. A little more freedom could help to eliminate this devious behavior.

Picture Solution to Reader's Piano Placement Problem

A piano can be an effective divider for a long, narrow room such as the one Mrs. G. B. writes about, and attractive backing for it won't spoil piano-tone. "We're lucky enough to be buying a piano sooner than we hoped," Mrs. B. tells us. "And the furniture arranged as it is leaves no wall space for it. I like the idea of placing the piano out from the window wall toward the center of the room to separate the two ends of the room, but is there any reason this shouldn't be done? Must the piano back be left uncovered?"

Sound comes out of the back of the piano, and will travel toward the end of the room which is behind it when there is no wall to stop it short and send it the other way. There may be nothing at all wrong with this effect in your room, Mrs. B., and a loosely woven cloth covering for the piano back interferes with sound too little to matter. Tack a fabric in a room scheme color to the back of the piano frame and give it a neat finish with a half-round molding to cover the fabric edges.

Mrs. M. M. "If I discard a turquoise arm chair which is wearing out, what color should a new one be to go with gray walls and carpet, a black and white tweed sofa, two dull gray-green chairs and draperies patterned in gold, turquoise, gray-green, shades of pink and black on a light gray background? The turquoise chair doesn't look too good in the room I'm afraid that a gold, pink or black one wouldn't either."

Gold, pink or black should be attractive for the new chair — perhaps the gold or pink, either one in a medium, fairly bright shade because the room can use more color. But there's need for more repeat of the chair color — the sample of the drapery you sent shows that there isn't enough of the three brighter colors to be very emphatic. Pillows in two shades of the chair color and white, or in the chair color, another color from the drapery and white or the gray-green would help, and add more of the chair color in an accessory or two. It's the lack of the turquoise in the room now that makes you feel that the turquoise chair isn't a success.

Mrs. L. B. "My bathroom wall tiles are yellow with a black border and the floor tiles are yellow and black. The plastic coated wall covering above the tiles has a white background with black figures, and I'm very tired of it. Can you suggest a change?"

There's little possibility for change, but plain yellow above to match the wall tiles would simplify the room and you might like it better. With the plainer background, you could introduce another color in towels and mats. Or you might find a less bold pattern for the wall covering you have now, one on a matching yellow background, which would lightly bring in the color for the towels and mats. (Copyright, 1958)

In Good Taste

Lack of Tact Shown by This Hostess

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Last Sunday we had a man and his wife in to dinner. They brought along a large box of French pastry which I served for dessert, although I had prepared a dessert of my own. As there was quite a lot of pastry left over and my husband and I seldom eat dessert, I put it back in the box and asked her to please take it home with her as it would only go to waste here. My husband was mortified and said that I was very unappreciative. Will you please tell me if I was wrong in doing what I did?

Answer: I'm sorry but I have to agree with your husband that the explanation you gave was very tactless. If only you had urged her to "share" what was left, you could have given her most of it, and at the same time have been appreciative of her gift.

Depends On Office

Dear Mrs. Post: A discussion came up in our office the other day as to how long an expectant mother may go to business. I mean from the point of view of good taste and not from a medical standpoint.

Answer: It depends entirely

Athens, Greece — Greece's King Paul today signed a decree dissolving parliament and paving the way for a general election May 11.

If it is a large office, or if she comes in contact with the public, then she should leave as soon as her condition becomes obvious.

Announcement

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just become engaged and would like to send an announcement to the newspaper, but am puzzled as to the correct way this should be done as both my parents are deceased. Will you please help me?

Answer: If you have neither grandmother nor aunt to announce it for you, it could be announced impersonally this way: "The engagement of Miss Louise Jones, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, is announced to Mr. Henry Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Brown."

Flowers Beautify Homes At Joyous Eastertime

Easter, both a solemn and joyous occasion, often is inspiration for the woman of the house to embellish her home for her family during the Lenten season which leads to Easter. Many flowers have become symbols of the event and lend natural beauty to any room of the home.

Floral producers have spent many months of the year to make it possible for you to have a large choice of Easter-time blossoms. Included in the wide variety of plants are the traditional Easter lily, hydrangeas, cinerarias, azaleas, calceolarias, and others, in the bulbous family, are tulips and gladiolus. Your taste in floral arrangements may be exercised during the Easter season, and you may choose either dignified, subtle plants or gay, brightly colored buds.

Consider Before Choosing To make a wise choice in flowers to beautify your home, several factors should be considered to insure your lasting satisfaction. The condition of the foliage is often an excellent indication of how well the plant has been grown. Naturally the number of blooms and their appearance will be a great influence to buying. A plant with several blossoms already present will give you loveliness immediately while plants with many undeveloped buds will give pleasure when they do bloom.

The price of the plant will be determined largely by its size and number of blossoms. Festively decorated pots and extra ribbons will present an additional expense, as will delivering.

The care you give your plants will determine the length of time which they will brighten your home. Remember that flowering plants require a great amount of water and often must be attended to twice a day. Keep your plants away from heat outlets and drafty locations and you very well may have your plant around next Easter, just as lovely or more so, than when you purchased it.

Failure to Enjoy Life Can be Sign of Silent Self-Destruction

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Lillian T. — Tim says he's happy, but I don't believe it. Timothy R. — I could be happy without her heckling.

Lillian T. — I am a young married woman very much concerned about my younger brother, Tim.

Tim is now 25 and has never been out on a date. He has never had any real friends. He was always a quiet boy, at school and he is the same way now. He does his work, goes home to read, or watch TV. He says he is happy, but I don't believe it.

I feel that Tim may be afraid to ask girls out because of his weight. He is very much overweight and I think he feels that people are making fun of him. He keeps on saying he's going to go on a diet, but never really gets around to it.

Timothy R. — My sister really gets in my hair, always telling me what to do and what not to do. I could be very happy without her always heckling me.

Lillian doesn't realize that I can't go running around nights because I can't leave our effect. A person like Tim may feel justly punished by a widow and doesn't have many friends. She depends on me to keep her company in the evening. I would sure like to meet some nice girl, but I just don't happen to know any — and even if I did, there'd be my mother to consider.

As for my being fat, well, I just like good food, but one of these days I'll really get on that diet and surprise everyone.

The Council: Tim is lucky to have a sister who appreciates the seriousness of his situation. Unfortunately, heckling seldom works in such a case. Sometimes it even has the opposite

Beauty Take Care When Scenting Furs

BY MARIAN MATTHEWS

Question.—Is it true that I should not use perfume on my furs?

Answer.—Because there's a risk of discoloration, it is suggested that fragrance be used with furs in this fashion: Spray the perfume into the air and quickly whisk the garment through the scent or put on the skins or garment and then whirl around in it. There'll be enough fragrance clinging to the fur to satisfy you. Also you might slip a cotton pad that has been dabbed with scent into the pocket of the fur jacket or stole before you go out. Another idea is to keep such a scented pad in the bottom of a garment bag in which furs might be placed.

Rough Heels

Question.—My heels are still rough from cold winter weather and I wonder if you can suggest how to keep them smooth.

Answer.—Cream will soften the skin on heels and prevent a rough cracked surface due to winter's cold. This is a condition many girls struggle with and I suggest you first try to rid yourself of the dry, top skin by scrubbing with a stiff brush and warm, soapy water. A pumice stone should be used with suds, too. Rinse away (soap) pat dry and massage a good cold cream into heels. If you're going to be home for an evening, apply cream and after about 15 minutes apply another light film of cream if the first application has disappeared. Then put on white cotton socks self, your home, gifts, bazaar for the rest of the night. Do items. Send 25 cents for your copy of this book today!

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

Almost all American experts use a 19-point requirement for a jump to two no trump after opening with a one-bid in a suit and getting a one-level response (e.g., one club by South, one diamond by North, two no trump by South), but there is good reason to question the practicality of this technique. Let's look at a deal:

Suprise Defeats Bricco for Trustee In Bear Creek

Bear Creek — Eugene Suprise, Lester Wright and James Rebman were elected trustees Tuesday.

Suprise defeated incumbent Leo Bricco by a 76 to 42 margin. Wright beat Charles Jepson, 96 to 24, and Mrs. LaVern Ellenbecker received one write-in vote.

Rebman defeated Mrs. Edith Norder, 66 to 53. He succeeds Lawrence Rebman, who did not seek reelection. Wright succeeds Thomas Gogh, who also failed to stand for reelection.

Christenson received 97 votes while Ruben Hansen, the incumbent who did not stand for reelection, and Duane Lorge each received one write-in vote.

A total of 123 votes was cast.

but his jump to two no trump over North's one spade was not very realistic. On a reasonably liberal count, South's hand was worth six winners, and so North would presumably have to supply three winners for game at no trump. If North had that many winners, he would not have to be spurred into action via a jump on South's part; and if he didn't have those winners there would certainly be no bells on a three-no-trump contract.

As it was, North had to accept the urge, of course, though he had only six high - card points, particularly since South might well have been stronger for the same rebid, and a game contract resulted that had very little chance of success.

It may be anti-climactic, after all this, to report that South did succeed, but that was only because his left-hand opponent virtually lapsed into slumber. West opened the heart six, and South took East's king. (Note that South was particularly lucky in finding the heart ten in dummy, for an extra stopper.) Declarer then led a spade, and when West played low South made a peculiar choice: he went up with dummy's king. It was a bad play but it turned out remarkably. Another spade was led; East won with the queen and returned the heart five—and West took the trick instead of ducking! Maybe he expected to get in with the spade ace but it didn't work out that way. When he led another heart South won, cashed the ace and king of clubs, and seeing West's cards in the suit, went over to dummy's diamond queen and led the third club toward his own 8-3. Thus, the club eight became the trick that fulfilled the rather optimistic contract.

Reelect DuCharme As Menasha Mayor

Incumbent Sweeps All Five Wards

Menasha — R. G. DuCharme swept all five wards in Menasha in winning his second term as mayor by a 1,000 vote margin. Former Mayor John Scanlon tallied 1,624 ballots to DuCharme's 2,624.

In winning, DuCharme became the city's first full-time, full term mayor. He was originally elected as a part-time mayor in 1956 and the post was changed during his tenure.

The winner drew 66 per cent of the votes cast compared to 79 per cent two years ago when he was first elected to office. In a primary race in March DuCharme also swept every ward from three aspirants.

Scanlon, a part-time mayor from 1946 through 1955, made his best showing in the first precinct of the Fourth ward where he had 247 votes to DuCharme's 353.

Ward Count

DuCharme, a former school teacher, outgained Scanlon 307-179 in the First ward; 581-360 in the Second ward; 469-245, Third ward; 528-396, second precinct of the Fourth ward, and 386-197, Fifth ward.

Only 68 per cent of the city's 6,230 eligible voters cast ballots for the mayor candidates. The number of voters increased considerably, however, from the 43 per cent of registered voters who cast ballots in March.

The largest number of votes in the elections went to City Clerk Ira Clough who was re-elected to his third term. Clough, who was unopposed, tallied 3,782 ballots.

City Assessor Thomas Zeininger, also unopposed, received the approval of 3,647 voters. He has been a city official for six years.

Five Aldermen Beaten In Reelection Bids

Neenah Council to Contain Six Newcomers; Luebke, Murphy, Rine, Miller, Biolo Out

Neenah — Five aldermen were defeated in their bids for reelection Tuesday, and only four members of the present city council will serve on the new body, which will be in power after the April 15 organizational meeting.

Six new faces will be seen in the council chambers in the coming year.

The new line-up will look like this: First ward, incumbent Warren Sanders; Second, newcomer Ewald Miller; Third, incumbent Peter Fara; Fourth, incumbent Leonard Hedberg; Fifth, newcomer Aaron Dix; Sixth, newcomer Carl Coenen; Seventh, newcomer Kenneth Parman; Eighth, newcomer James Dinius; Ninth, newcomer Paul Hansen, and Tenth, incumbent Harold Young.

Deposed from their council seats were Ald. Dapriel Luebke, council president, running in the Seventh ward; Charles Biolo, running in the Ninth ward; Ray Miller in the Third ward; Joseph Rine in the Second ward and Ray Murphy in the Fifth ward.

First With New System

This was the first council election under the new 10-ward system which went into effect last year. Under the new system aldermen from odd numbered wards will be up for reelection for two-year terms.

C of C Pledges Support on New Station

Neenah — Leon H. Tolversen pledged the support of the Chamber of Commerce in helping the city solve its problems, foremost among them the proposed police station.

The chamber had campaigned strenuously against the police station bond issue was presented in Tuesday's referendum, saying that the city needs a long-range master plan before such a project is undertaken.

"We are pleased that a majority have sustained the objective of the Chamber of Commerce in advocating a comprehensive, long-range plan for Neenah," Tolversen commented. "The need of a police station remains, and to fit this in with a plan for the future of our city becomes one of the pressing problems facing the new city administration. The problems of a city are solved by the active cooperation of its many component parts and the Chamber of Commerce, as one of those parts, pledges its support," he said.

A meeting is scheduled sometime this week between members of the chamber's Neenah planning committee and city officials to begin reconsidering the police station proposal in an effort to get the new facilities as soon as possible.

Moore Wins County Post on Written Votes

Takes 126 Ballots To Opponent's 122 In New First Ward

Neenah — Hugh R. Moore won the only race for a county board post in Neenah Tuesday. Moore will represent the First ward.

Moore, 583 E. Wisconsin avenue, received 126 write-in votes, four more than his nearest opponent, Adolph A. Hennig, 721 Stevens street.

No candidate had been announced for the First ward post by the Jan. 28 deadline. The entire contest was decided on write-in ballots.

Thirteen others in the First ward received either one or two write-in votes.

Moore is administrative vice president of the Bergstrom Paper company. Hennig works in inventory control at Marathon.

Four other county supervisors were elected without opposition. They are Lawrence Driscoll in the Second ward, 341 votes; Robert Skalmoski in the Fourth ward, 433 votes; Glen Christiansen in the Sixth ward, 395 votes, and Oliver Thomsen in the Ninth ward, 407 votes.

The five elected Tuesday will join the five supervisors elected a year ago from the old five-ward system. Under the new 10 ward plan Neenah's representation on the county body is doubled.

The five new supervisors will be up for election in 1960. Next spring posts now held by Alvin Staffeld, Norbert Redlin, John Heigl, Reinhold Grunski and Frank Klinke will expire.

Winneconne — A tentative budget of $96,420 was approved by the residents attending the town of Winchester annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. The proposed budget is $6,000 less than last year with the difference largely being the cost for the revaluation of the township in 1957.

Included in the budget is a tentative estimate of $64,780 as the school district cost and $6,000 for the loan payment to the state trust fund for the Central school construction.

Donations of $300 to the Bell Cemetery association and $300 to the Winneconne Cemetery association were approved by the residents. Bell Wins Neenah Mayor Post Easily

Tops Sande By Margin of 939 Ballots

Neenah — Voters elected Chester S. Bell as Neenah mayor Tuesday by more than 900 votes.

Bell defeated incumbent George E. Sande, who was seeking his sixth term, by a final count of 2,903 to 1,964. Warren Wilke, the third candidate in the race, polled 234 votes.

About 68 per cent of the city's registered voters cast ballots. Exactly 5,167 of a possible 7,585 went to the polls.

The new mayor-elect is 67 and lives with his wife and one daughter at 251 E. Wisconsin avenue. He retired three years ago as legal department head of Kimberly-Clark corporation.

Bell also carried the Fifth ward, Sande's home ward, by 100 votes, 368 to 268. Sande's total in this ward was his highest in the city. Exactly 678 voters of the 967 registered in the heavily populated Fifth ward turned out.

Bell led by margins of 182 votes in the First ward and 161 in the Eighth. In other wards his margin of victory ranged from 11 votes to 125 votes.

Plan Colorful Easter Menu With Ham, Sweet Potatoes, County Home Agent Says

Neenah — After the six-week period of lenten meals, the Easter Sunday dinner becomes a special occasion to be planned for in advance by most homemakers. Colorful menus and a centerpiece with a holiday theme makes the dinner a festive event.

"There's a ham tailor-made for the occasion and for your budget," advises Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent. For a large group, a whole smoked ham is least expensive. After the Easter dinner, the bone can be used for soup and left-over pieces can be added to casserole dishes. For small families, she advises picnic shoulders, shank or butt halves as the most economical.

If time is a major factor, get a ready-to-eat ham and cut baking time by one-third. Any ham labeled "tenderized" fully cooked, or ready to eat, and carries the round purple federal inspection stamp is safe to eat as is. Cooking will usually improve appearance, color and flavor; however, allow a little less than one-half pound of meat per person from bone-in hams.

Fruit Sauce

For a spiced pineapple fruit sauce, combine three-fourths cup syrup from canned apricots with one-fourth cup water. Heat and then mix one tablespoon corn starch, two tablespoons sugar and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon with a small amount of the apricot mixture. Slowly add to the hot liquid. Stir constantly until thickened. Add one cup cubed fresh pineapple, one-third cup drained canned apricot quarters, one-fourth cup nuts and one-fourth cup raisins. Orange slices or rosy baked apples also might garnish the meat dish.

Orange-glazed sweet potatoes or mashed sweet potatoes tucked into orange halves are served well with the ham. A varied way to use the sweet potatoes is mashed, made into balls and rolled in crushed peanuts. For a colorful tossed salad to accompany the meal, use endive, leaf lettuce, spinach, red cabbage or celery cabbage.

Prepare carrot curls, celery sticks, radishes and green onions for a relish tray well ahead of serving time so the vegetables are chilled and crisp.

Favors for the Easter breakfast table can be made by combining paper sculpturing with dyed eggs. Light-weight cardboard platforms can be made to hold the egg erect. Add hats, faces and ears to give the eggs character. White shells give a truer dye color than brown shells, although brown shells are suitable for the darker dyes.

Ham Casserole
Ingredients for a ham casserole, using left over pieces of ham, are two medium-sized cooked potatoes, four sliced hard-cooked eggs, two cups diced cooked ham, two cups canned or frozen asparagus, two cups medium white sauce and one cup buttered bread crumbs.

Arrange sliced potatoes in the casserole dish and cover with eggs and ham. Top with drained asparagus, reserving the liquid from canned asparagus to use as part of the liquid in the white sauce. Season with salt and pepper. Add white sauce and top with bread crumbs. Bake in a slow oven at 300 degrees for 30 minutes. Cream soup can be substituted for the white sauce.

Menasha Town Voters Approve Two Precincts

Park Commission's Recommendations on Securing Public Access to Lake Accepted

Menasha — Two precincts were authorized for the town of Menasha at the annual town meeting Tuesday night at the Fox Cooperative. The new precincts will go into effect with the fall primary election in September.

The area on the east side of Little Lake Butte des Morts will be precinct No. 1 and the area on the west side of the lake will be precinct No. 2 and will vote at the Spring Road school. A petition with 50 signatures asking for two precincts was presented at the meeting.

Time for the annual meeting was set back to 8:30 in the evening since both polls must close at the same time. It will give those voting on the west side of the lake time to get to the annual meeting which is held at the east side's polling place.

In other actions the upwarp of 50 town residents at the meeting gave a vote of confidence to the town board for continuing in the regional planning commission and accepted the 6-point recommendation of the town's park commission.

Park Recommendations
These recommendations were:

1. That the dock on the east end of Dock street be completed to provide public access to Little Lake Butte des Morts on the west side of the lake.
2. That a similar facility for public access to Little Lake Butte des Morts on the east side of the lake be obtained.
3. That the Herman Peters property on the south side of the Chicago and North Western railroad bridge and east of County Trunk PP be acquired for a picnic site since the area is suitable for such use without improvement.
4. That the property offered by E. K. Nielsen for use as a playground be improved for that purpose if it is available for not less than five years.
5. That the town board and park commission continue to extend full cooperation to the cities of Neenah, Menasha and Appleton on road extensions and planning plans.
6. That the study of additional park and playground sites be continued with such professional assistance as is deemed necessary and that the park commission and town board be guided in acquisition of additional properties for these purposes by any area development ideas available.

Lake Access Donated
Town chairman Oliver Jacobson explained that Dock street had been donated to the town and the lake in that area had been dredged somewhat last year. This access has made it possible for the fire truck to have a place for loading water.

The Peters property, he explained, has about 200 foot frontage on the lake.

The Nielsen property could be made suitable for a ball diamond for children with just a little bit of grading that would not cost too much. Nielsen does not want to sell the land, Jacobson explained.

As for access to the lake on the east side, there is some land that might allow a 60-foot road to the lake which now is owned by Andrew Forster and the Becks, the town chairman mentioned.

Cost of installation of street lights along the Midway road at its intersections with Highway 47, Earl street and County Trunk PP and by the George Banta company plant, on Highway 10 at its intersections with the midway road, the old Manitowoc road and Highway 114 at Waverly beach and on Highway 114 and a town road just east of Menasha at the curve in the road is being surveyed.

Several of the streets had been under consideration and four more were added at the meeting Tuesday night.

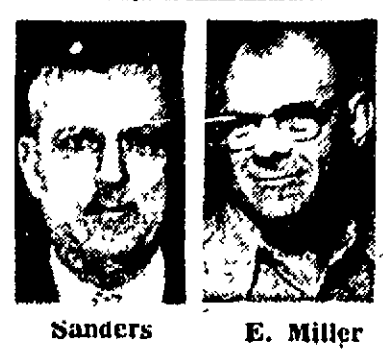

The application of Joseph G. Cannon for a class A liquor and beer license to operate a beer depot with an outlet at Gmein road or Carlton avenue was rejected by the town residents who felt that three beer depots in the east end of the town were enough.

A request for the blacktopping of Chain drive also was rejected and the residents left the matter of roads to be improved up to the town board. It was voted to clean out several ditches in the area along Palisades drive, Gregor court and Anton court. Jacobson said the people in that area would be contacted first when one of the Anton court residents objected to digging across the driveway.

Neenah — Ralph Kiesow of champion Bergstrom Paper topped the Neenah Industrial Basketball league scorers with 183 points, according to the unofficial tabulations.

Kiesow, playing in 11 games, tallied 66 field goals and 51 free throws. One of the Bergstrom wins came via forfeit.

Joe Kosiorek of Neenah Paper was the second best marksman with 160 points. He had as many field goals as Kiesow but his 28 free throws were 23 less than the Bergstrom catcher's total.

Others in the top five were Pete Burghardt of Badger-Globe with 144 points, Bob Erickson of Lakeview with 142 and Gerald Bubolz of Neenah Paper with 138.

Kosiorek and Bubolz played in 10 games and Burghardt and Erickson nine.

Last year scoring honors went to Bill Willing of Neenah Foundry with 200 points. He played in the Neenah Senior Church and Menasha-Industrial circuits this year and led both loops in scoring. Al Wisneski of Company 1, seventh in the year, ranked second with 188 and Kosiorek was third with 160. Kiesow placed fourth with 146. He also was high scorer two years ago.

Other leading records include Schabo and Son 511-381, Star Bar 501-391, Kiefer Clothing 50-40 and Central Brass 49-41.

Doty Tavern and Star Bar were the only two winners among the 10 to sweep three games.

Shawano Game Tops

Bluejay Five Averages 57 Points Per Contest in Chalking Up 10-10 Record

Menasha — The 1957-8 Menasha High school basketball team which included among its achievements the defeat of mighty Shawano, averaged 57.3 points per game to 37.35 for its 20 opponents. The Jays closed their slate with a 10-10 record.

The statistics are included in the annual Menasha basketball report released by Coach Lucian Gajewski. The Jays, who frequently resorted to a slow, deliberate game to compensate for their lack of height, scored 1,146 points during the season while the opponents tallied one more than their total. The Jays did their best work during the second half of the schedule when they won seven of their last nine.

High of 78 Points

Menasha's high point mark for the season was 78 points against Clintonville and the low was 34 in a loss to Neenah. High for an opponent was 74 by Neenah, Shawano and Kimberly and the low 41 by the Rockets.

Easily the high mark of the season was the 58-56 win over Shawano after two overtimes and a round of free throws, snapping the defending state champions' 23 game winning string. The Menashans were involved in two such games of two overtimes and a round of free throws but they lost the second one to Neenah.

two losses to the Rockets and splits against Shawano, two against Rivers, Kimberly and Kaukauna. The Jays closed their slate with a 10-10 record.

Outside the circuit, the Jays turned back West De Pere and fell to Manitowoc, Appleton (by one point) and Wisconsin Rapids. In tourney play they bested Omro and lost to Neenah.

Individual scoring honors went to Don Nelson, selected as honorary captain, with 333 points on 123 field goals and 87 free throws. Gordy Selbach was a close second with 322 marks. Selbach's 125 field goal topped that department while Nelson's 87 free throws also were a season's high.

Most Improved

Jerry Koslowski, who was named the most improved player on the squad, placed third with 182 points. Dave Robinson and Tom Stepanski, both juniors, were the highest scoring underclassmen with 74 and 71 tallies respectively.

During the season, the Jays attempted 1,199 shots for an average of 60 per game. The opponents tried 1,053 for an average of 53. Menasha hit at a 35 per cent average and their opponents at 41 per cent.

The Jays snared 287 offensive rebounds and picked 386 off the defensive boards. The opponents tallied 281 on the offensive side and 445 off the defensive boards.

Rebound Totals Nelson was the leading defensive rebounder with 99, followed by Selbach's 69. Offensively Selbach was tops with 57, trailed by Koslowski with 56.

Selbach, the most valuable player, had a brilliant total of 99 recoveries. Nelson was second with 52. Nelson led in assists with 44, followed by Selbach with 31.

In the free throw department Menasha hit at a 65 per cent clip on 169 for 298 and the opponents at 60 per cent with 187 for 277. Koslowski had a fancy 80 per cent on 40 for 50 to top the individuals.

11 Lettermen Bolster Rocket Baseball Team

Neenah to Launch 1958 Card Against Oshkosh Indians

Neenah — If experience can be taken as an indication, the Neenah High school baseball team should be in for another good season.

From last year's squad which compiled a 12-2 record and its second straight Mid-Eastern conference championship, only two boys are missing.

The current squad includes 11 lettermen, eight of them seniors. Although the graduation losses were light, nevertheless, the departees took with them some fine talent. Gone are Tom Wiesner, a four-year letterman, and Denny Davis, monogram winner the last three seasons.

Returning Hurlers Both were versatile performers. Wiesner was the regular catcher last year and also saw service on the mound and at second and third base. Davis was a top-flight hurler, played second base and in the outfield.

Returning moundsmen include Gene Gries, Marv Carlson and Don Bemowski. Gries, one of the top high school and Legion hurlers in the area last year, can also play first base; Carlson plays third, second base or in the outfield when he isn't hurling, and Bemowski saw outfield duty last year.

Other senior lettermen include Kent Simerson, outfielder; Dave Thomsen, infielder; Tom Kelly, catcher; first baseman, John Newton, an outfielder and infielder Dan Began.

Outfielder Tom Syring, infielder Dave Heller and catcher Jerry Moder are returning junior lettermen. Other juniors

Open at Oshkosh The Rockets, who are again coached by Joe Braun, will open their schedule April 15 at Oshkosh. They will meet Algoma in a double-header here on April 19. Another non-conference game is scheduled against Ripon on May 1 in addition to the seven conference tests.

Last season, the Rockets posted a 6-1 conference record, had 4-0 outside the circuit and 2-1 in tourney play. Losses were to Kaukauna in the league and Menasha in the finals of the district meet.

Oshkosh State Cancels Tourney

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Abandonment of the Oshkosh State college holiday basketball tournament has been announced by Bob Kolf, Titan athletic director.

Kolf declared that the meet will not be held in 1958 because teams being considered either did not want to compete, or already are committed for the holiday period.

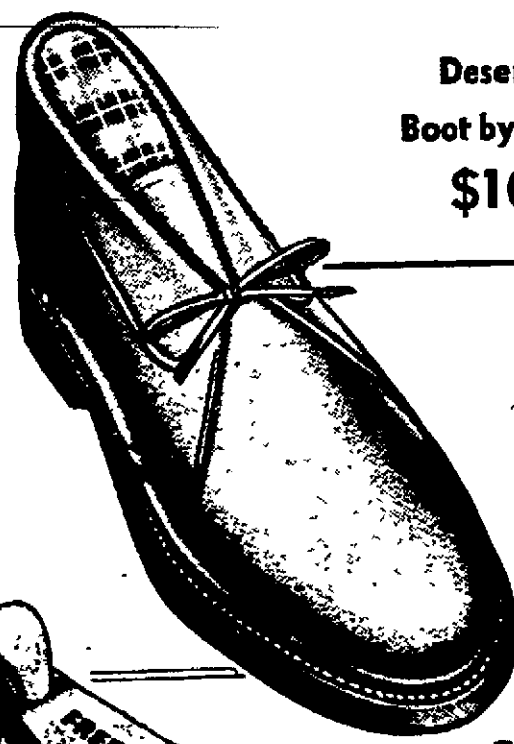

The event was begun in 1956 when Oshkosh, Carroll, Lawrence and Ripon competed. Oshkosh defeated Carroll for the championship.

Oshkosh, River Falls, Eastern Illinois and Winona, Minn., competed in last December's meet and the Illinois school bested Oshkosh for the title.

Milwaukee May Deal Hurler for Buc Outfielder

Quinn, Brown Confer; Clemente's Draft Status in Doubt

Bradenton, Fla. — The quest of the Milwaukee Braves for an outfielder has carried them into conferences with the Pittsburgh Pirates, but so far the meetings have produced only talk.

Wants Starting Pitcher
The Braves apparently have been taking a close look at Pittsburgh fly chasers Roberto Clemente and Ramon Mejias.

Asked about Milwaukee's Gene Conley, Brown again refused to mention names, but said, "I'd take a regular starting pitcher in exchange for Mejias," and then added: "He doesn't have to be an established pitcher. But by the game clicking and his spirits high — he is almost unbeatable. Fellow pros rate him the toughest battler in the game.

"Miserable" Tour
"I had a miserable winter tour," Ford said. "I couldn't putt. But at San Antonio I felt my touch getting back and at Baton Rouge and New Orleans I knew I was getting back in the groove. Now I feel great."

"If I continue playing the way I am, I feel sure I can win again."

Ford shows the most concern over Sam Snead and the red-hot youngster Ken Venturi.

"I had to name a man other than myself it would have to be Snead," Ford said. "A darkhorse? I like Dow Finsterwald. He's a fine young golfer, just waiting for a break."

Venturi, Finsterwald and Arnold are the youngsters who have to be watched. You can never discount Snead. But I still feel good about my chances."

Venturi, only player to win three tournaments this year, had a practice 67 over the 6,850-yard par-72 Augusta National course Tuesday and said, "I'm playing so well it scares me. I'm afraid I can't keep it up."

Mullins Says MU Job Is Still Open

Milwaukee — The Marquette athletic board spent several hours with a prospect Tuesday, but according to Athletic Director Larry "Moon" Mullins the university is still looking for a basketball coach.

After a long meeting with John Bennington, cage coach at Drake, Mullins said: "The board has yet to decide to whom the job will be offered, and Bennington has yet to decide if he will take the job, if it is offered to him."

While not available for comment Tuesday night, Bennington, coach at Drake for two years, had said earlier he would take the job if it was offered.

Mullins denied that Bennington was the only candidate in the race when he said, "My statement implies there are others in the running for a job." He declined to mention other names.

Boya Stresses Value of Pride At AHS Dinner

Ulwelling Announced As Team's MVP For 1957-8 Season

BY MIKE DREW Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Take pride in your performance in athletics, in school work and in everything else you do," Appleton High school varsity and JV basketball players were urged by Lawrence College Cage Coach Don Boya Tuesday noon.

Boya, the speaker at the annual Rotary club banquet honoring AHS cage teams, said that a good athlete has "pride in his coach, his team, his school and, especially, himself."

Cites Determination
The Viking mentor, former AHS and Lawrence all-around sports star, said that a "good loser" has three qualities. "He hates to lose, he makes no alibis for losing, and out of losing he gains determination to come back and win."

As an example of this determination Boya cited the Terrors' varsity's performance in rebounding from an early-season loss at Manitowish to win nine straight Fox River Valley conference games before

Bilko Strengthens Bid for Cincy Job

Homers Twice in 9-2 Victory; Minoso Clubs 3 Round-Trippers

By The Associated Press
Steve Bilko is making his ponderous presence felt with the Cincinnati Redlegs after 13 seasons in organized baseball.

He had been considered nothing better than a "good hit, no field minor leaguer."

Purchased from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league last Oct. 8, Bilko (no relation to the sergeant of TV fame) is seeking to win a regular job with the Redlegs. He failed in previous attempts with the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs.

Cincinnati decided to give him a try after he hit 56 homers and drove in 140 runs in the PCL.

Tuesday, the 6-1, 230-pound first baseman slammed two home runs and led the Redlegs to a 9-2 victory over Philadelphia. He ended a scoreless deadlock with a 2-run blow in the fourth and repeated the trick in the seventh. Both homers came off southpaw Curt Simmons.

Minnie Minoso clubbed three homers as the Cleveland Indians outslugged the Chicago Cubs, 14-7. Minoso drove in eight runs. Ernie Banks homered twice for the Cubs.

Bill Skowron drove in eight runs with two homers and a Hoef.

Transferring Control of Upper Fox Waterways May Bog Down Again

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — The transfer of control of the upper Fox river system of waterways from the war department to the state Conservation commission, under discussion and negotiation for half a dozen years, may bog down again.

Involving enormous fish and game interests and other recreational values including boating, the upper Fox control issue has troubled two state administrations thus far and now seems as far from resolution as ever.

Would Repair Locks
Conservation Director Lester P. Voigt said today that a tentative agreement between state and federal authorities for future state management of the waterways with their locks and dams is now threatened by legal difficulties.

If the U. S. congress, which is now considering transfer legislation, grants the demands of power boat groups in the Lake Winnebago area, he said, the state will be unable to accept the control and management of the waterways system under its constitutional limitations.

Originally Voigt and the Conservation commission had worked out an agreement to take over the system from the federal government, on condition that the army corps of engineers would repair the locks and put them in fixed position so as to avoid the probability of huge state maintenance and operations costs in the future.

That plan provided for mechanical boat lifts for the passage of small craft using the river.

But now the owners of large power boats are asking that the congress provide that the locks be kept in operable condition.

Conley, Kaiser Pitch Braves to 7-2 Win

Mathews, Aaron Set Hitting Pace

Brandenton, Fla. — The Milwaukee Braves outclassed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-2, Tuesday as the world champions closed their spring exhibition play here with a show of good pitching and stout hitting.

The bats of Hank Aaron and Ed Mathews provided the offensive thrust that included 14 hits, while Gene Conley and Don Kaiser scattered nine Pittsburgh hits. Conley worked the first five innings and claimed the victory, his first of the exhibition program. Kaiser went the last four allowing only three hits and no runs.

Hits Fifth Homer

Mathews had one of his best days at the plate, going three for four as he drove in three runs with a pair of doubles and a single. Aaron poked his fifth homer of the spring, driving the ball into the wind and over the scoreboard in left center.

"Red" Schoendienst and Johnny Logan contributed a pair of singles each to the Milwaukee attack on four Pirate hurlers.

The Pirates opened the scoring in the first as Bob Skinner singled with two out, took second on a wild pitch and went home on Ted Kluszewski's single. Ramon Mejias and Dick Groat singled in the third, and Mejias took the last Pirate run across as Skinner forced Groat.

Milwaukee never trailed after its first turn at bat. A pair of runs were marked up in the first inning as the Braves were quick to abuse Bob Friend. Schoendienst bunted for a hit, Bob Hazle sliced a single and both scored on Mathews' single.

Logan singled in the second and ran home on a long double by Del Rice. Aaron's homer came in the third and then the Braves were scoreless until the sixth as Frank Torre singled and scored after a sacrifice fly by Ray Shearer and Logan's second single.

A single by Mel Roach and Mathews' double gave the Braves another run in the seventh and they finished up in the eighth as Shearer doubled and reached home on a single by Felix Mantilla.

A drill on fundamentals was in store today as the Braves put in their last Brandenton workout. Thursday they will meet the Dodgers at Jacksonville, with Warren Spahn taking one of his infrequent turns at stopping the pride of Los Angeles.

Gonzales Leads Head, 27 to 23

Augusta, Ga. — "Panchito" Gonzalez and Lew Hoad reached the halfway mark of their 100-match tour with Gonzalez leading 27-23 after beating Hoad in straight sets, 7-5, 10-8, Tuesday.

Flattens Moreno in 1st Defense Of Featherweight Championship

BY PATRICK MCNULTY
Los Angeles — World featherweight champion Hogan "Kid" Bassey played an April Fool's joke on his ring counselors — but they liked it just fine today.

We told him to box — so he knocks the chap out early," said Bassey's manager George Biddles.

The chap was Ricardo "Pajarito" Moreno of Mexico, who had been hailed as the more vicious puncher.

The champion from Nigeria left ringside mouths agape with his savage third-round knockout. It was his first defense of the 126-pound title.

"I fought the first round exactly as I had planned," Moreno sadly explained later through an interpreter. "After that I could do nothing."

"He hit me hard in the first round, so I slugged back," Bassey admitted with a grin. Bassey continued bombing until the "Little Bird" collapsed like a pressed duck with just a few seconds left in the third.

Moreno took the first step toward groggyland when Bassey, 124, clipped him with a ripping uppercut midway in the second. "That's when I knew I had him," Bassey said.

Moreno, 124 1/2, was far from through, however, and made a game stand as thousands of his countrymen from south of the border and Los Angeles' large Mexican colony shouted encouragement.

Bassey, also a deft boxer, slipped or blocked most of Moreno's flurries. But he later admitted that even the punches on his arms hurt plenty.

In the third, Bassey opened with a wild-swinging barrage. A solid right sent Moreno reeling across the ring.

Bassey followed with two more rights and Moreno did a drunken shuffle-off dance step and collapsed. He was still on his back, but making a feeble effort to rise, when Referee Tommy Hart counted him out.

Bassey collected a guarantee of $70,000 from the Wrigley field gross gate of $215,047.06. Moreno got $38,000.

Canadiens Trip Detroit, 4-3, Gain Finals

Maurice Richard Scores 'Hat Trick'
In Final Period

Detroit —(U)— Maurice Richard, who said "I just did the best I could," had his Montreal Canadiens headed for a brief rest today while the Detroit Red Wings tried to throw off the shock of their worst beating in Stanley cup history.

Richard who missed 42 games during the regular National Hockey league season because of a serious cut, had his finest hour Tuesday night in Montreal's 4-3 triumph that completed a 4-game sweep of the best-of-seven preliminary series against Detroit.

Few Days' Rest

The Canadiens will be off a few days while the Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers settle their preliminary match, currently deadlocked at two victories apiece. The Rangers whipped the Bruins, 5-2, Tuesday night in Boston.

It was the marvelous "Rock-et," probably the youngest 36-year-old ever to put on a pair of skates, who almost single-handedly beat down the once-proud Red Wings who ruled the league for so many years.

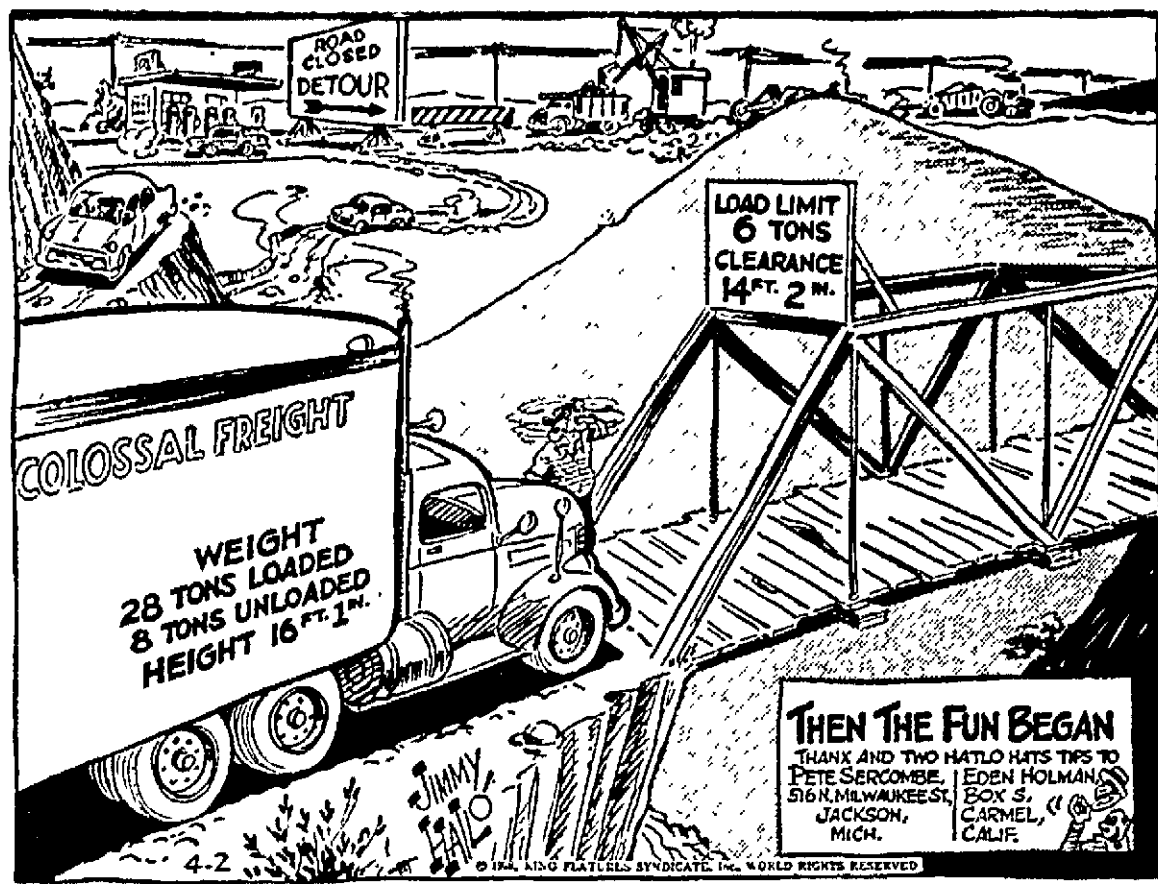

Playing in his one thousandth NHL contest over a 16-year period, he counted the "hat" (3-goal) trick and pulled his team from a 3-1 deficit in the last 20 minutes of play. The goals were his seventy-fifth, seventy-sixth and seventy-seventh in Stanley cup-play.

Montreal took the series by scores of 8-1 and 5-1 in Montreal and 2-1 and 4-3 on Detroit ice.

40-Year-Old Marv Grissom Is Still Giants' Leading Fireman

Phoenix, Ariz. —(U)— Life continues at 40 for relief hurler Marv Grissom of the San Francisco Giants.

"At 40 you can't expect to do what you did at 23," says Grissom, explaining how he continues to be considered the ace fireman of the Giants' staff.

"I decided I wanted to continue playing because I love the game, so I took off 10 pounds during the winter so there would be less strain on my legs. And the Giants have allowed me to get into shape the way I know how to and didn't rush me. I only worked a few innings at first and only this week have I felt I can go and throw all out.

Trained for Job

"I've trained myself for the job I have to do and not to go in nine innings like the younger fellows do."

Grissom, who still possesses a good fast ball, usually works one or two innings. He went five twice last season but more often less than one.

Grissom still depends primarily on his fast ball, but there's a screwball and a couple curve speeds to go along with it. Last year he appeared in 55 games and pitched a total of 83 innings. In the relief role he had an earned run average of 2.60 with 51 strikeouts.

Berra May Miss Season's Opener

St. Petersburg, Fla. —(U)— The injury to New York Yankee catcher Yogi Berra, believed at first to be only slight one, may keep him out of the season's opener.

The split between the third and fourth fingers of the right hand, caused by a foul tip in Monday's game against Los Angeles, required two stitches Tuesday. The hand will have to remain bandaged for about 10 days.

Pitts' Foe Faces Heavy April Slate

Art Swiden Has 3 Bouts Lined Up This Month

Milwaukee — Art Swiden of Pittsburgh, Orville Pitts' opponent here next Tuesday night in a 10-round heavyweight bout, either isn't taking Pitts seriously or he likes to box.

Jack Laken, Swiden's former manager and a long-time corner man, disclosed today that the Pittsburgh sharpshooter has two more bouts lined up this month.

According to Laken, apparent advance man for Swiden, he is slated to fight Buddy Turman in Dallas on April 17 and Calvin Butler in Charlotte, N. C., April 29. That's three fights in one month.

Swiden's actual manager, Peter Buntag, is due to arrive here later today with his fighter and open workouts for the Auditorium bout with Pitts, former University of Wisconsin champion.

Earlier Laken, who handles welterweight Don Alderson of Cannonsburg, Pa., predicted that Swiden will be too much for Pitts to handle.

"Swiden knows how to punch and doesn't waste a move," said the loquacious Laken. "I don't know why Pitts' handlers took the match."

Asked why he doesn't manage Swiden any more, Laken replied: "I couldn't get along with one of his family, but I still think he's a terrific fighter."

29-Year-Old Roofer Surprised He's Leading 2 ABC Divisions

Syracuse, N. Y. — Sam Walker was more surprised than anyone to find himself leading two divisions of the fifty-fifth American Bowling Congress today.

The 29-year-old roofer from Candaigua, N. Y., took over in the all-events after compiling a 588-666-658-1910.

His 666 in the doubles Tuesday was combined with Robert Schaeffer's 601 to give the pair a 1267 aggregate and first place in the 2-man team division.

"I don't get much chance to bowl in tournaments," Walker said with a smile. "And I do very little open bowling. I'm as surprised as anyone that I shot so well."

Walker's 1910 would have finished twenty-third in the 1957 ABC at Fort Worth, Tex. It would have been worth sixth place at Rochester, N. Y., in 1956.

Jack Blevins of Macomb, Ill., tops the singles with 663. Bernie Kolata of Milwaukee was tied for seventh place on a count of 662.

Uptown Bar of Kenosha, Wis., was in sixth place among teams in the open division with 2,889; Phillips equipment of Harrisburg, Pa., led with 2,945.

Taylor Phillips Is Rapped Again, Has 13.94 ERA

Tucson, Ariz. — Taylor Phillips, the 24-year-old southpaw obtained by the Chicago Cubs from Milwaukee in a deal that sent righthander Bob Rush to the Braves, has been anything but effective this spring.

Phillips was knocked out of the box in two innings against Cleveland Tuesday as the Cubs dropped a 1-7 decision.

Phillips has made four exhibition starts and has worked 16 innings. He has been whacked for 23 hits and 25 earned runs. He has issued 23 walks and has an earned run average of 13.94.

Last year, the speed baller had a 3-2 record with Milwaukee and a 5.55 earned run average.

Rory Calhoun And Pompey Meet Tonight

Louisville, Ky. — Yolande Pompey, a light-heavyweight with his eye on "mixing it up" meets Rory Calhoun, a heavy-fisted middleweight, in a 10-round television bout here tonight.

Observers are expecting the affair to be a rouser. Some doubt it will last 10 rounds.

Pompey has knocked out 25 of his opponents, and Calhoun 17 of 37. Besides their fighting professions, both are hobbyists.

Calhoun, from New York by way of Atlanta, is a classical music lover who'd like to be a concert pianist. Pompey, who sports a trace of British accent, is a rugby and horse racing enthusiast who got his start in ports playing rugby in his native British West Indies.

Pompey has a 34-43 record. Calhoun, ranked the No. 6 middleweight, will be 33-3-1 going into the fight.

Question Marks

Roberts, Jones Hold Key to Phils' Chances of Improving This Year

BY JACK HAND

Clearwater, Fla. — Can Robin Roberts bounce back? Is Willie Jones through? Will Ed Bouchee play again?

If Manager Mayo Smith knew the answers he could tell more about the fate awaiting his Phillies. The club surprised everybody last year, leading the league briefly in mid-July with a rookie cast. The Phils finally settled for fifth place.

A new bunch of whiz kids gave the club the shot in the arm last spring. Jack Sanford, Dick Farrell, Harry Anderson and Bouchee all made it big. Seth Morehead, Bob Bowman and Don Cardwell also made contributions.

Wins Strikeout Crown Sanford's remarkable 19-8 season earned him the "rookie of the year" award as well as the strikeout crown in sharp contrast to Roberts' backsliding.

Not only did Roberts lead the league with 40 home runs, but his won-lost record dipped to 10-22, poorest of his career. Bothered by a tightness in his back, Roberts has not been impressive.

"Roberts is a starting pitcher," said Manager Smith recently. "It is up to him."

At this stage, Roberts must be considered a question mark.

Herrera May Get Job

Jones, the veteran third baseman, showed signs of wear and tear last summer when he was benched for light hitting Ted Kazanski. In the early spring games, he has not impressed Smith.

The Bouchee case is too well known to need much repeating. The first baseman was placed on three years probation by a judge in Spokane, Wash, recently after pleading guilty to a morals charge.

The loss of Bouchee, a powerful .293 hitter who drove in 76 runs as a rookie, was a blow to the Phils.

Francisco "Pancho" Herrera, a 6-3 Cuban who hit .304 at the Miami farm, is getting a big whirl at the job.

If Jones can't win back the third base post, Kazanski (.265) will be the man. Chico Fernandez (.262), obtained from Brooklyn last April, is set at short and Granny Hamner (.227) at second.

Richie Ashburn (.279) is the center fielder, of course, Anderson (.268 with 17 homers as a rookie) will play left, probably platooning with Rip Repulski (.260).

Stan Lopata (.237), apparently recovered from last year's knee injuries, is the No. 1 catcher with help from Joe Lonnett (.169).

Smith counts on the experienced Warren Hacker (7-6 with Cincinnati and Philadelphia) and Jim Hearn (5-1) for spot starting and middle inning relief.

losing their FRVC finale to Green Bay East.

Speaking of his own team, which won but one of 20 games in Boya's first collegiate coaching assignment, the tutor asserted "No, our morale and confidence didn't stay high all year. But the boys didn't crumble or fold up, they gained more determination as the season went on."

The coach said he'd like to see as many of the Terror cagers as possible attend Lawrence.

AHS Coach Dick Emanuel, who introduced his players to the Rotarians, announced that guard Jack Ullwelling was elected by his teammates as the club's most valuable player.

Emanuel said that in his opinion Ullwelling's most important contributions were as a team player rather than as a scorer and that in Appleton's big victories Jack's passing and other floor play were keys to the wins.

The coach said that Ullwelling—a 3-year varsity man—could have rested on his laurels after one season but kept improving each year because of great desire. "I was hard on him," Emanuel asserted, "a good deal harder than I was on players with less ability."

Lions Begin Sending Veterans' Contracts 3 Months 'Early'

Detroit — The Detroit Lions began sending out 1958 contracts to veteran players today, starting the contract business three months ahead of schedule.

In the past several seasons, General Manager Nick Korbaw has been negotiating with several stubborn players during the training camp period.

"We want to avoid that this year," Korbaw explained. "We have to concentrate on training and our pre-season schedule."

Korbaw already has the signed contracts of quarterbacks Tobin Rote and Bobby Layne, along with Yale Lary, Harley Sewell, Dave Middleton and Bill Glass.

Confetti Showers Will Be Prohibited in Mobile

Mobile, Ala. — It appears Mobile's traditional showers of confetti at Mardi Gras parades will become a thing of the past.

The Mobile city commission Monday directed that the city attorney draw up an ordinance making it illegal to sell or throw confetti on Mobile streets.

The commissioners said they feel the practice created a health hazard. They called it a needless nuisance.

Donovan Continues Having His Problems, Blows 6-Run Lead

Tampa, Fla. — Right-handed Dick Donovan, always a late starter, is really having his problems with the Chicago White Sox this spring.

Donovan, 18-6 last year and one of the key men in the Sox pennant scheme, is having trouble reaching form.

Dick has worked 17 innings this spring and his yielded 17 runs. He blew a 6-run lead Tuesday in a 15-11 loss to the New York Yankees.

In five appearances so far, Donovan has yielded 26 hits and has not been able to last more than four innings.

Brown said the Pirates were in a position to make a deal for one of their outfielders, but not until they find out about Clemente's draft status. They expect him to be deferred because he has four dependents, but won't make any decisions until the ruling is final.

"We're not going to take a chance on trading an outfielder and then losing Clemente to the draft in the bargain. As soon as we're sure about him, then we can go ahead on a possible trade," Brown said.

Blair Gullion Quits As Athletic Director At St. Louis School

St. Louis — Blair Gullion, athletic director at Washington university here since 1947, has resigned from that job.

He will continue to teach physical education and coach the basketball team at Washington.

Successor to Gullion is Harry C. Burrus Jr., assistant football coach.

Gullion helped shape the de-emphasis-on-athletics policy at Washington and Chancellor Ethan A. H. Shepley said the policy of not giving athletic subsidies to athletes will continue.

Gullion said he resigned because the pressure as athletic director, teacher and coach at the same time was too great.

Grand Chute Approves Incorporation Study

Committee to Study Possible Village Formation, School District Consolidation

A 5-man committee to study methods of incorporating the town of Grand Chute as a village was approved by the town's electors at their annual meeting Tuesday.

The committee also will investigate ways of consolidating Grand Chute school districts as a single unit and formation of a town planning commission.

The committee will call a public hearing at conclusion of its studies to allow electors to decide final action. No time limit was set for recommendations, but town chairman Arthur Lecker indicated the hearing may be called during the summer.

Lecker will appoint the committee. The town board will set a pay scale for members.

Fear Annexation Approval of the proposal came after discussion in which several town residents, including Robert Boettcher, town assessor, and Floyd Acheson voiced approval of the idea.

Both men cited possible annexation of town areas by the city of Appleton as reasons for incorporation.

Frank Calmes, town board member, said the town could forestall annexation to Appleton by boosting interest in civic affairs.

Main opposition to the committee came from electors who said it would not act quickly enough.

Auto in Appleton

Donald J. Roberts, 27, route 1, New London, today was sentenced to a 1- to 1 1/2-year term in Waupun state prison for auto theft.

Roberts admitted to Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schniege that he stole a 1950 car from W. Washington and N. Division streets March 12. Roberts told police he had been drinking and saw the car keys in the ignition lock.

He was stopped by Dale Constable Bertschy Hauk, who noticed Roberts driving near Dale with a flat tire and the car radiator boiling. Roberts at first claimed he was trying out the car before buying it, then admitted stealing it.

The car belonged to the Appleton Motor company, 1610 W. Wisconsin avenue, and was being used by Mrs. William Cherkasky, 59 Bellaire court, at the time of the theft.

Roberts previously was fined $25 for driving the stolen car without a license.

Around Home...

A rural Appleton couple got a taste of country hospitality recently while they were away for several days.

Their mailman became suspicious when no one picked up deliveries at the residence. He called Sheriff Donald Hemritz to investigate.

The sheriff found no one was home and there was no cause for alarm.

This week the postman got a letter from the couple thanking him for his concern and praising his neighborliness.

TVA Propaganda Called Unfair by Kefauver

Pamphlets Said to Be 'Brainwashing'; Utilities Band for Advertising Purposes

BY ESTES KEFAUVER

U. S. Senator From Tennessee

Washington — In these days when there's so much brainwashing going on, I think we ought to give Russell C. Herrington, commissioner of internal revenue, a pat on the back for putting a crimp in some of it.

Back in 1949, the National Association of Electric Companies—that is, the private power lobby—made a public opinion survey. It was an honest survey—and, therefore, the results were somewhat discouraging to the power lobby.

It found, for instance, that 63 per cent of the people of the United States approved of TVA. Only 10 per cent disapproved. The rest had no opinion. It even found that 45 per cent of its own employees thought TVA was a good idea. Only 40 per cent of the private power employees opposed it. Again, the rest had no opinion. But they had another question in their survey, also. This one was: "Would socialism be a good thing or a bad thing for the United States?"

Here they found only 10 per cent of the people thought socialism would be good. Sixty-nine per cent said it would be a bad thing. And 21 per cent had no opinion.

Propaganda Line The electric companies advertising program—an association of companies which varies between 50 and 150 private utilities banded together for advertising purposes—laid down the new propaganda line that would be followed.

In a little pamphlet, intended only for distribution among private power officials and officials of the public relations and advertising concerns that handle the program, the association reported on these surveys. There was a leak, however, and this is the line set forth:

"From the preceding charts," the pamphlet read, "it is apparent that to link our fight to the TVA question would run us into a lot of opposition, most of it based on lack of knowledge. But to link our fight to socialism is something else again. The people do not want socialism."

From that time on, right up to about the middle of February, the American people were subjected to a steady diet of that propaganda.

Through the years this operation has been broadened into a lobby against REA's Hells canyon, Niagara River development, as well as TVA and other public power developments.

It involves millions of dollars in advertising costs in the slick magazines, radio and television. The "message" usually ends up something like this:

"Those who want a socialistic America know that when government takes over electricity, it is a step toward the control of every business, farm and family. The time to stop the spread of socialized electricity is now. That's why these facts are brought to you by America's business-managed, taxpaying electric light and power companies."

Now what has Mr. Herrington done about this—and why does he deserve a pat on the back?

Almost a year ago I wrote him and asked him what about these advertisements—so obviously political, so obviously designed to affect legislation? Are they tax-deductible as a business expense?

He ordered a full field investigation, and on Feb. 14 advised me they are not.

Now what will the results be—will it stop the unfair propaganda? I doubt that—but it simply means that these companies won't be able to deduct the cost of these ads from their taxes.

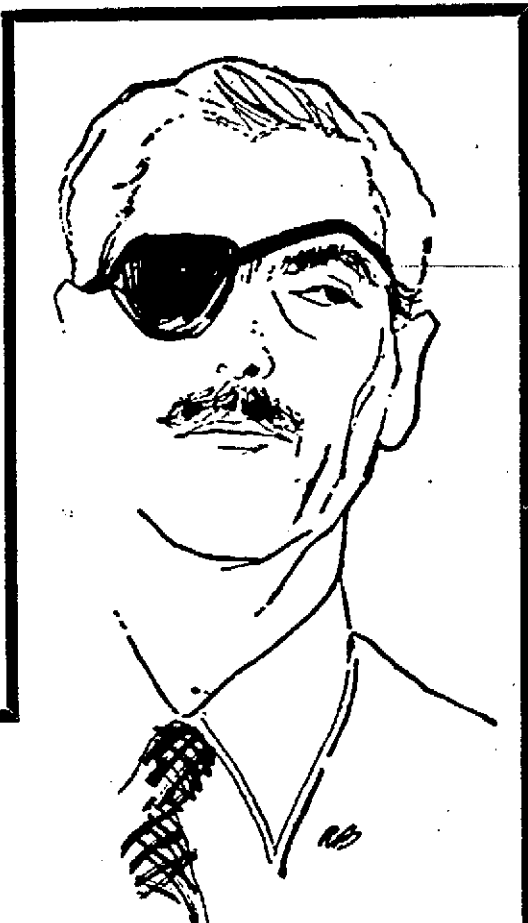

That makes me—and, I'm sure, a lot of us—feel a lot better. We don't mind being propagandized; we've grown used to it. But it does disturb us to think that we're paying for our own brainwashing.

Now the companies will have to pay for it.

American men are beginning to realize that it is ridiculous to buy good suits and then spoil the effect by wearing an ordinary mass-produced shirt. Hence the growing popularity of our Hathaway shirts, which are in a class by themselves.

Hathaway shirts wear infinitely longer—a matter of years. They make you look younger because of the subtle way Hathaway cut collars. The whole shirt is tailored more generously and is therefore more comfortable. Even the stitching has an ante bellum elegance about it.

Above all, Hathaway make their shirts of remarkable fabrics, collected from the four corners of the earth—lustrous broadcloth from England, Sea Island cotton from the West Indies, hand-woven Madras from India and Africa, silk from Paris and oxford cloth from America's finest weavers.

You will get a great deal of quiet satisfaction out of wearing shirts in such impeccable taste. There could be no better time than now to come in and make your selection from our fabulous collection.

Defeat of Aldermen in Manawa Tops Voting

Reassessment Fight High Point Of Election in Waupaca County

Waupaca—The struggle over reassessment of Manawa was credited with the defeat of three aldermen in Waupaca county voting Tuesday.

David Niven, Edward Ferguson and Rolland Jepson, leaders in the reassessment fight were defeated by Robert Plotter, Carl Roenz and Gordon Suehs, who campaigned against the reassessment action. Rhinehart Gruel, another reassessment proponent, was reelected alderman but his candidacy did attract a write-in campaign by Robert Wagner, of the reassessment opposition.

Manawa also will send a new supervisor to the county board, as Albert Abraham won a write-in contest with Charles Deckert, who had been appointed to the post on the resignation of Ed Jones.

First Clerk-Treasurer

The city of Waupaca made Mrs. Harriet Ward its first clerk-treasurer when it favored 51 to 49.

There was no opposition in the Marion election and all incumbents were reelected.

The village of Fremont named Leonard Rowen to the unexpired term of assessor and Russel Kapitke was named to the unexpired term of clerk. Both had been appointed to the posts when the incumbents resigned. There was no opposition in the election.

Clintonville will send a new supervisor to the county board as Carl Schroeder defeated William Donaldson in the First ward. Harvery Schroeder was defeated in a bid for reelection for Third ward alderman by Art Schnorr.

All other incumbents were reelected, including Louis Krueckenberg as mayor.

Defeated Alderman

Fifth ward Ald. Robert Bridges was the only incumbent unseated in the New London election. He was defeated by Vernon Burton by two votes, 51 to 49.

Seymour Voters Pick New Mayor

Outagamie Villages Elect Trustees; Towns Conduct Annual Meetings

Election of Malcolm Veitch as mayor of Seymour highlighted Outagamie county races outside the Fox Cities area in Tuesday's spring elections.

Election activities included selection of village trustees in Hortonville, Black Creek, Shiocton and Bear Creek and some local school referendums. Annual town meetings were held.

Veitch defeated R. C. Schultz by a 387 to 240 margin. He will succeed Carl Kuehn, who did not seek reelection. Veitch carried both Seymour wards.

Other Seymour officers who were reelected without opposition were Mrs. Josephine Marnocha, city clerk; Mrs. Corrine Huth, city treasurer; Ben Truman, First ward alderman; and Elmer Seidl, Second ward alderman.

Village Trustees

In Bear Creek, Eugene Surprise, Lester Wright and James Rebmam were elected trustees and Louis Christenson was elected constable. Other candidates were Incumbent Leo Brisco and Charles Jepson. Incumbent Trustee Thomas Gogh did not seek reelection. Christenson succeeds Ruben Hanson, who resigned before the election.

In Black Creek, Vervle Sievert unseated incumbent Hugh Pautz as village trustee, while the other incumbents, Roy Brandt and Willard Last, were returned to office.

Three incumbent trustees retained their posts in Hortonville. They are Emory Dorn, Lester Thern and Reinhold Harp. Jerome Olk, who sought one of the trustee's seats, trailed the second lowest man by

Wingert Loss Major Upset in State Politics

Slim Dieterich Victory Change in Voters' Usual Behavior

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The defeat of Justice E. L. Wingert in the desultory state election Tuesday will go down as one of the most startling upsets in the history of the Wisconsin elective judiciary.

The triumph of W. H. Dieterich of Hartford, narrow as it was, nevertheless caught lawyers, politicians and students of Wisconsin electoral behavior entirely by surprise.

There was no hint during the pre-election campaign, no issue of any kind that attracted public notice, to suggest that the people of Wisconsin would break their almost inviolable rule and refuse to retain on the state's highest court an incumbent judge.

The Dieterich election has only one modern parallel, the election of Henry P. Hughes of Oshkosh to the court over another incumbent, J. Ward Reuter, in 1947.

But Hughes had advantages that Dieterich didn't have. He was a widely known trial judge. He had made a close run a year earlier. He had a good campaign organization. He stumped actively and effectively. Dieterich scarcely stirred in this spring's campaign. Because he had repeatedly

Aircraft and Some Steel Issues Record Advances

New York — Aircraft and some steel issues recorded gains and losses of fractions to around a point were the rule for key stocks.

The market's uneven tone was established at the opening. There was a tendency to settle backward for a while but prices firmed shortly after President Eisenhower's news conference.

The aircrafts went to the upside following Eisenhower's request to congress for an extra $1,455,747,000 in defense appropriations.

Chrysler dropped to a new low for the year by losing a point in active dealings. Wall Street talk was that a large block of the stock was hanging over the market.

Beech Aircraft, Boeing and Douglas Aircraft were one-point gainers.

Lukens Steel was up a point, U. S. Steel picked up a major fraction, Bethlehem was firm. General Motors eased and American Telephone gained about a point.

Approve Tiffany as Civil Rights Director

Washington — A senate judiciary subcommittee today approved President Eisenhower's nomination of Gordon M. Tiffany to be staff director of the civil rights commission.

Tiffany is a former attorney general of New Hampshire.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), chairman of the subcommittee on constitutional rights, announced the vote as 5-1. One member, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) was absent.

The subcommittee acted immediately after a public hearing at which Tiffany testified he was "not an expert" on civil rights and made "no claims to knowing the answers to these problems."

Tiffany's nomination, submitted to the senate for confirmation last Feb. 20, now goes to the full judiciary committee for action. The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for April 21.

A survey of Erb park will be made to assure crowd accommodations for the Dairyama show sponsored by the Northside Advancement association on June 28 and 29.

Walter Winters, member of the show committee, will make the survey.

J. L. Walker, county 4-H agent, told a planning session Tuesday night 4-H clubs will participate in the program.

George Hatchell is compiling data for displays on history of the Wisconsin dairy industry. People with antique dairy items or factual historical stories may contact him.

The association will sponsor a potluck supper at the Ambrosia room of the Elm Tree bakery at 6:30 in the evening on April 14.

Calumet County Election Topped By City Races

New Mayor Named In Brillion; Chilton Picks Treasurer

Chilton — Calumet county voting Tuesday was highlighted by election of a new mayor in Brillion, a new treasurer in Chilton and two new village trustees in Stockbridge.

Of major interest in the two cities in the county was voting on three referendums. Brillion defeated one and approved one while Chilton defeated the third question.

The new mayor of Brillion is Clarence Wolf. He was unopposed when Mayor Howard Leppla failed to stand for re-election.

A write-in campaign in Chilton brought Mrs. Phyllis Schmidkofer the post of city treasurer. There was no candidate for the office on the ballot, since the post figured in the referendum on the ballot.

Defeated Referendum
Chilton voters defeated a proposal to combine the offices of city clerk, treasurer and welfare director and to make the combined office and the city assessor post appointive offices instead of elective posts. The vote was 286 against the proposal to 79 for.

The Brillion referendum favored by a 246 to 141 vote was to establish a $1,000 fund in the 1959 budget for economic development in the city. The voters defeated a proposal to extend Egan street by a vote of 254 against to 145 in favor.

The village of Stockbridge unseated Harry Westenberg and Alex Goesser as trustees, electing John Karls and Charles Van Den Boom. Clem Schumacher was reelected.

In the other incorporated community in the county Hilbert voters returned Victor Albers, Vernon Schomburg and Lloyd Lowe as village trustees. Lowe won his seat by three votes over Norbert Thomas. The other candidate was Clinton Schultz.

HOT WATER QUICK!

because you can place an automatic electric water heater anywhere

- NO VENT OR FLUE
- NO COSTLY PIPE RUNS
- COMPLETELY AUTOMATIC

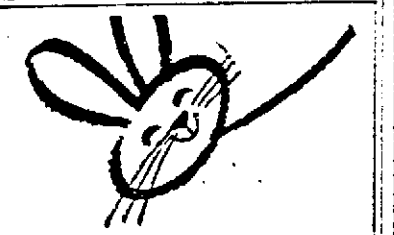

Your hot water supply is close to your faucets when you heat water electrically. An electric water heater can be installed anywhere because it needs no flue or venting. Put it in your utility room — or in the laundry right under the bath or kitchen. Then you get hot water quick — because pipe runs are short. Wasteful radiation is reduced, too. An electric water heater is completely automatic — nothing to turn up or down — nothing to adjust.

U. S. Prestige in Jakarta at Low Ebb

Hardly a Day Passes Without Some Official Blasting American Policy

BY JOHN RODERICK

Jakarta, Indonesia —U. S. prestige in official Indonesian quarters is at its lowest ebb in many years.

Hardly a day passes without some official taking a private or public swipe at U.S. policy toward Indonesia. Just nine years ago Indonesians had nothing but praise for the United States, hailing its role in getting the Dutch to give Indonesia independence.

Now the newspapers in the capital, whatever their political complexion, take almost daily digs at Secretary of State Dulles.

This unfriendliness rubs off on American correspondents, who are denied even the most ordinary privileges in trying to report the activities of the government and the army.

The official attitude has not, so far, affected relations between Indonesian individuals and ordinary workaday Americans living here. The free and easy manner of Americans has always made them popular here and the popularity continues at lower levels.

Nor has the split on policy entirely soured diplomatic contacts. Members of the U.S. embassy maintain cordial relations with their opposite numbers in the government.

The fall in prestige mainly is because of the conflict between the central government in Jakarta and the month-old revolutionary regime in central Sumatra and north Celebes.

Government officials suspect strongly, but never have said so outright, that there has been American interference in the struggle, on the side of the rebels.

Arms dropped to the rebels at Pakanbaru, just before government troops captured that Caltex Oil company area, reinforced the already generally accepted belief that the United States is meddling.

Deny Involvement

The state department has denied involvement.

But a Dulles statement at a news conference, in which he voiced a desire to see constitutional government restored in Indonesia, has been interpreted as unwarranted interference in the situation. A statement by Adm. Wallace Beakley, U. S. 7th fleet commander, saying he hoped for a stable government was received the same way.

More than anything else, probably, Indonesian officials are ruffled by the American tendency to regard the rebellion as directed at a communist regime in Jakarta.

It is not a communist regime. Premier Djuanda is a nonparty moderate. His cabinet contains three leftists, but no communists.

Officials resent criticism that President Sukarno is coddling communists by giving them posts on a 45-member national council to represent different walks of life. The president re-

James Boswell, bear badge; Gary Vivoda, gold arrow under wolf badge; Daniel Griffith, gold arrow under wolf badge; Thomas Meiers, assistant denner stripe under wolf badge and Edward Rosenberg, denner stripe under wolf badge.

His friends say he recognizes a danger that the communists may gain power but he blames them less than the established political parties which seem unable to match the communists.

Sukarno went out of his way last week on the official level to show he wants U. S. good will and friendship. He gave an exceptionally cordial reception to Howard Jones, the new U. S. ambassador, and warmly praised Jones' predecessor, John M. Allison, long a target of the communists' most vicious thrusts.

DORNS SUPER MARKET

Let This Pretty Easter Bonnet Cake decorate the center of the holiday table. It is very easy to make, trimmed with chocolate polka dots, band and bow.

Fun to Make

Amusing Easter Dessert Takes Shape of Bonnet

Even if you are not a cake decorating expert, you can prepare this amusing Easter Bonnet dessert.

Two white or yellow layer cakes, which may be prepared from a mix, some chocolate filling and 7-minute frosting are its foundation. Morsels of semi-sweet chocolate dot the top of the cake in an attractive polka dot effect.

The only skill necessary is forcing some of the chocolate filling through a cake decorating tube around the base of the hat's crown to make ribbon band and bow.

You will need a set of tier pans to bake the cake. These are readily available in hardware, dime and housekeeping departments of other stores. They come four to a set. Bake ing the cake in the 7-inch and 9-inch pans achieves a perfect tailored hat effect.

Easter Bonnet Cake

1 package white or yellow cake mix
6 ounces semi-sweet chocolate bits
6 tablespoons condensed milk
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
1 tablespoon water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 recipe for 7-minute frosting
Have ready greased and floured 7 by 2 1/2-inch round layer cake pan and a 9 by 1 1/2-inch layer cake pan. Prepare cake mix according to package directions.

Fill each pan two-thirds full. Bake according to package directions, baking the 7-inch layer five to 10 minutes longer, or until sides of cake pull away from pan and cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool; remove cake layers from pans.

Filling, Frosting

Reserve one tablespoon of the semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Melt remaining chocolate over hot (not boiling) water; remove from heat. Add condensed milk, corn syrup, water, salt and vanilla, beat until smooth. Cool to spreading consistency. Place 9-inch cake layer on cake stand or serving plate. Spread three-quarters of the filling on cake to 1 1/2 inches from cake edge. Top with second layer. Frost cake with 7-minute frosting. Place reserved pieces of chocolate on top of cake, point side down, in polka dot fashion. Force remaining chocolate filling through cake decorator around bottom of 7-inch layer to make hat band and bow.

Melba Toast

You can make your own melba toast by trimming the crusts from very thin pieces of bread and baking the slices until crisp and light brown in a slow oven.

Spiced Short Ribs Spruce Up Meals

If you're looking for a robustly seasoned short rib recipe to give the men in your household a mealtime treat, simply take a minute and read this recipe for Barbecued Short Ribs.

Barbecued Short Ribs

3 pounds beef short ribs
1/2 cup water
1 cup catchup
1 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon honey
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
Add water to meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly for two to two and one-half hours, or until tender.

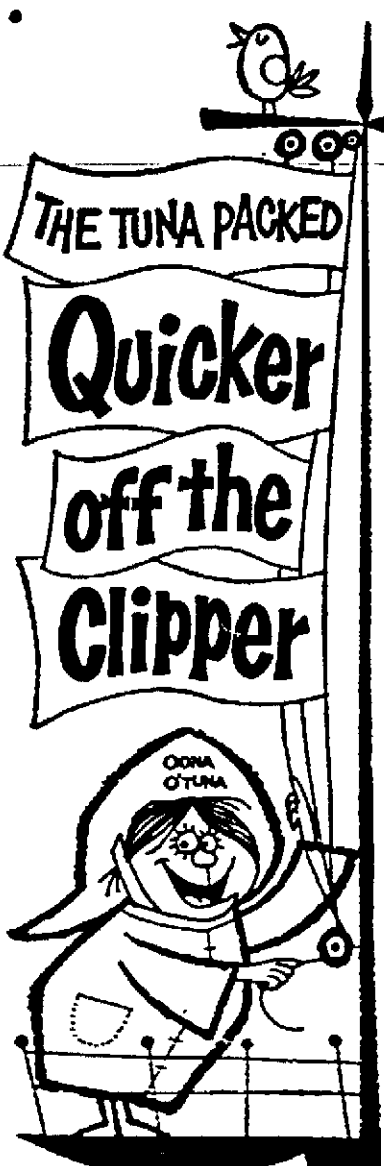

Combine catchup, onion, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, honey and mustard for barbecue sauce.

When short ribs are tender, remove from liquid and place on a rack in broiling pan. Set regulator for broiling. Brush short ribs with the barbecue sauce. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of the meat is three to four inches from heat.

Broil about 5 minutes. When first side is browned, turn and brush second side with remaining barbecue sauce. Continue broiling second side two to three minutes.

Twin Rocks to be Destroyed in Biggest Non-Atomic Explosion

Perilous Points Terror to Ships, Unfaithful Wives of Yuculta Tribe

BY ELMER VOGEL

Vancouver, B. C.—(AP)—A pair of underwater rocks, long a terror to ships and, in earlier days, to unfaithful wives among the Yuculta Indians, will be pulverized this week in man's greatest non-atomic blast.

Known as Ripple Rock, they are actually small submarine mountains, now vast hollow lumps of explosives awaiting the blast signal. The target date is April 5.

The rocks stand virtually in the center of Seymour narrows between the British Columbia mainland and Vancouver island, 100 miles north of here.

Since 1875, at least 24 large vessels and a hundred small pleasure and fishing craft have been damaged and destroyed by the two volcanic sentinels—with a loss of at least 114 lives.

Dreadful Role

They played another dreadful role. The story goes that Yuculta Indians left squaws caught cheating on their husbands on the rocky pinnacles—then apparently closer to the surface than the present 9-foot minimum clearance—at low tide. They were swept to their deaths by the rising waters.

Yuculta legend also has it that braves demonstrated their courage by standing atop the rocks at low water while their pedestal vibrated perilously beneath them.

Despite the perilous rocks, some 1,500 to 2,000 large passenger and freight vessels use the passage each year, along with 5,000 smaller boats. They carry 175,000 persons and $107 million worth of cargo over what is known as the inside passage. The route cuts hundreds of miles on the stormy north Pacific for the ships traveling between Vancouver or the Puget Sound ports of Seattle, Bremerton, Tacoma or Olympia and northern destinations.

The Canadian government is footing the entire $3,100,000 bill for the removal job—which is being handled by private contractors—but the U. S. government has been advocating it since 1905. In World War II it became an urgent problem because the United States sent big cargoes, including munitions, to its northern defense forces through the protected passage.

Attempt Failed

An attempt was made during the war years to blast the top off the cones by drilling blasting holes from a barge anchored to cables above the rocks. The tremendous force of the water and the turbulence defeated one attempt. Another died because it was estimated it would take 124 years and many millions of dollars to finish the job at the rate of progress then being made. Nearly a million dollars went down the narrows in these two tries.

Finally, as pressure grew for a safer route to the great Canadian and Alaskan defense projects, the Canadian research council suggested the job could be done by boring from within. Essentially, it amounted to tunneling under the narrows and up into the two cones, planting some 1,400 tons of explosives and shooting the top off the rocks.

The operations headquarters are on Maud island, which constitutes the eastern boundary of Seymour narrows. A 7-by-18 foot shaft was sunk to a depth of 570 feet on the island. At its base, workmen tunneled at a west-southwest angle for 2,000 feet to a position directly beneath the north rock, with a 400 foot fork to the south rock.

The under-channel tunnel, roughly 6 by 7 feet, bores through a largely volcanic formation consisting of basalts, andesites and breccia of varying degrees of hardness.

Forked Tunnel

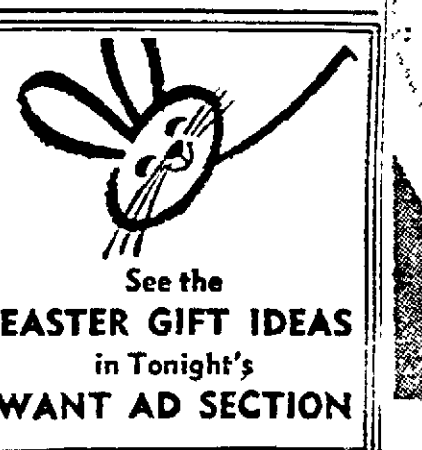

From this forked tunnel, two 7-by-15 foot access shafts rise over 300 feet to within roughly 40 feet of the summit of the cones. The tunnels are equipped with every possible safety

Herbed Sauce Excellent
With Spring Vegetables

Serve spring vegetables (broccoli, asparagus, tomatoes) with a dollop of the following sauce:

Combine one-half cup mayonnaise with one-half teaspoon crumbled sweet basil leaves and one egg yolk.

device, including emergency control gates should water break through at any point.

In two years work by crews of 40 to 77 men, however, there have been no accidents and no water breakthroughs beyond anticipated seepage.

The shafts are equipped with 25-horsepower electric hoists to haul men and material to the upper workings and for use in packing the 1,400 tons of explosives into the rock bores.

The 1,400 tons of explosives compares with the largest previous known non-atomic blast at Promontory Point, Utah, Jan. 6, when 1,069 tons was detonated to create rock fill for a railroad. The Utah blasting agent was less powerful, using 60 per cent dynamite, compared with 90 per cent at Ripple Rock.

Weather Conditions

At a point 120 feet below the low tide water level, shafts were driven north and south along the long axis of each rock. These 5-by-8 foot tunnels are service levels for the driving of holes into which the explosive is packed.

Weather conditions may affect the degree of concussion, with a proper combination of wind and pressure reducing the "destructive focusing" danger. If conditions are bad, complaints and damage claims could be expected for a distance of 30 miles; if good the damage would be negligible. If all windows and doors are kept open within a distance of five miles. The nearest structure is a wharf and logging

Flavorful Meat Loaf Easy to Make

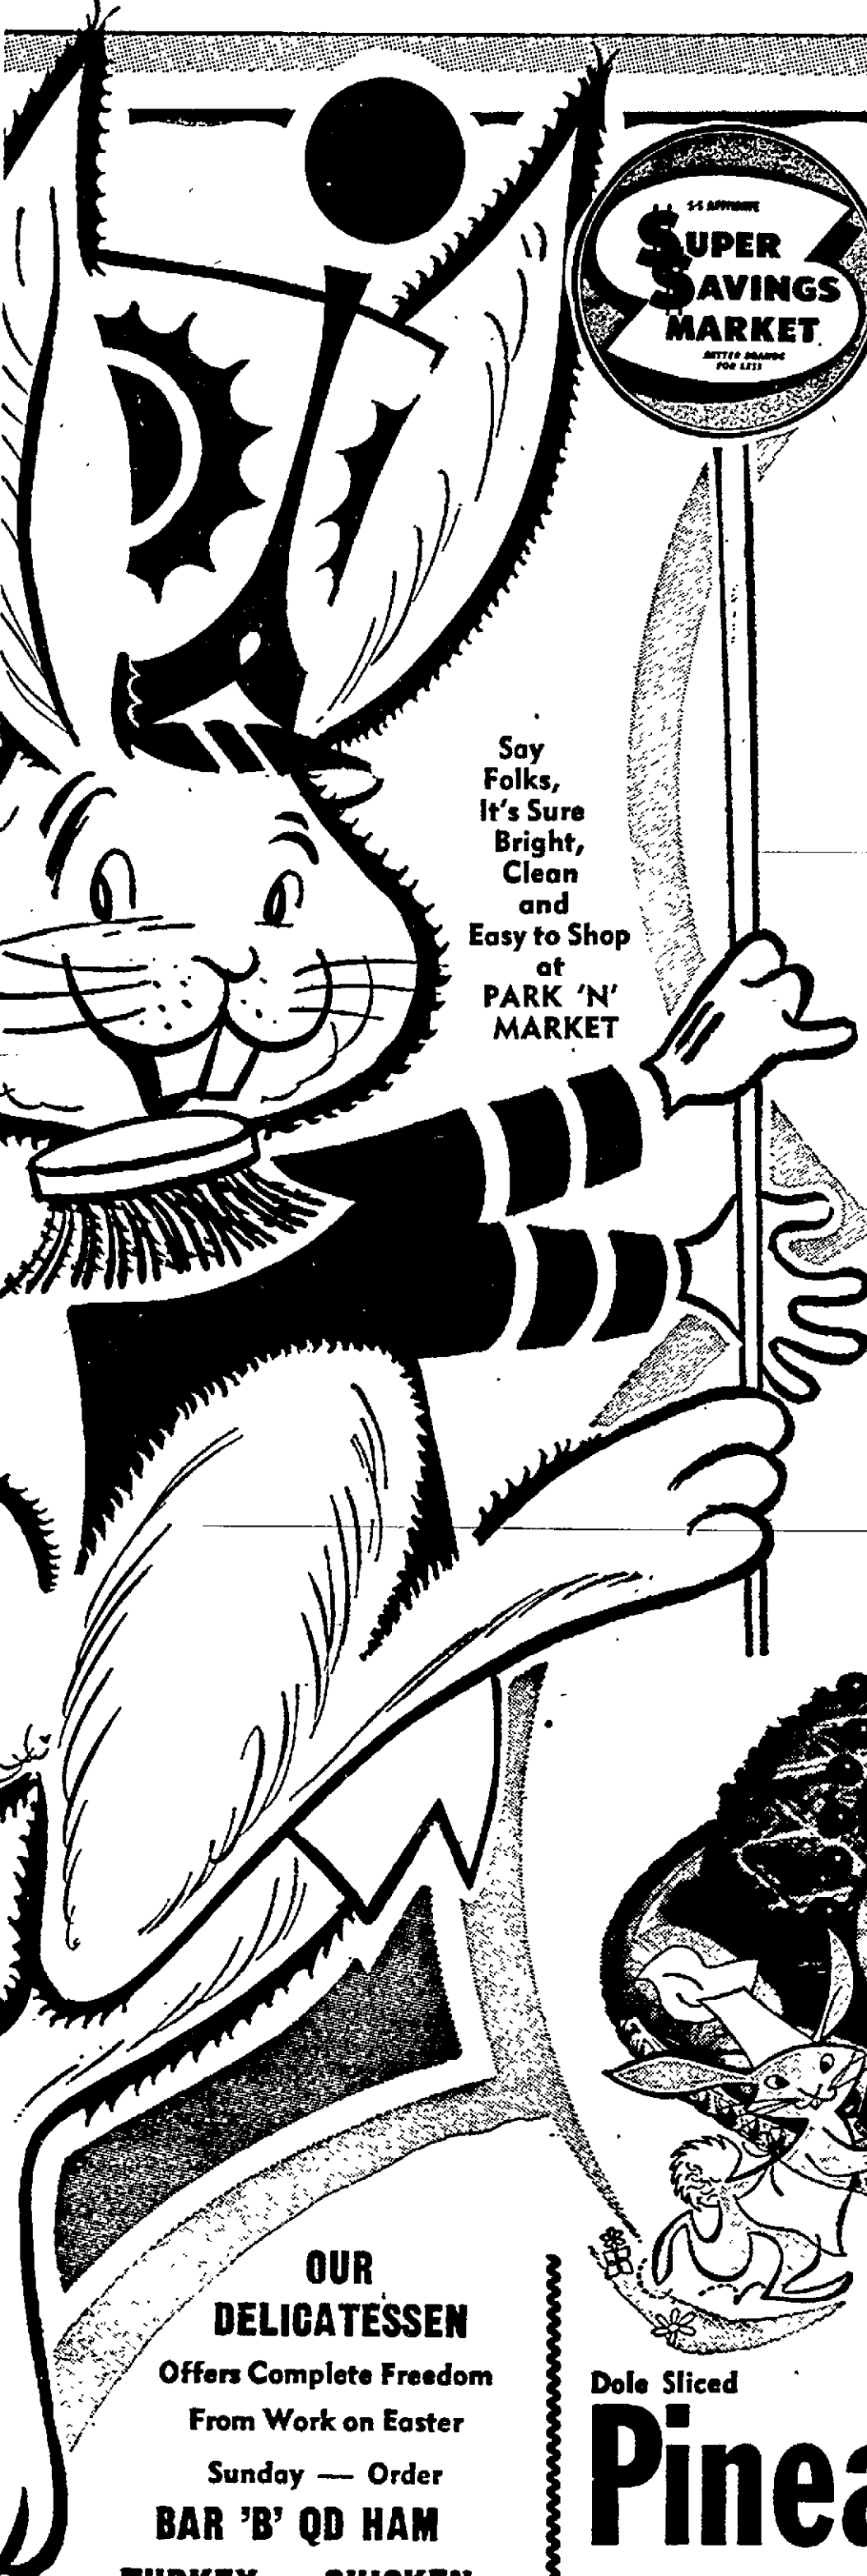

This meat loaf boasts of two basic principles—simplicity of preparation and flavor appeal.

In procuring ground beef for such a recipe, there are many proportions of lean to fat. It's best to have ground beef which is 75 per cent lean and 25 per cent fat.

Smokers and Nonsmokers Vary Widely

New York — (U. S. A.) — A heavy smoker tends to be energetic and independent. A nonsmoker is likely to be stable, dependable and quiet.

This difference in personality is pointed out in a study of Harvard men, first as students from 1938 to 1942 and later, through questionnaires, in 1953.

Results of the study were published in the February issue of the archives of internal medicine. The author is Dr. Clark W. Heath, professor of hygiene and director of health services at Tufts university, Medford, Mass.

The five heaviest smokers were compared with five nonsmokers picked at random from the group.

The heavy smokers, the study said, "showed great energy, restlessness, seeking for danger, and a kind of independence which keeps them actively engaged in some enterprise which appeals."

The report adds that "they had difficulties with marriage."

On the other hand, nonsmokers were "steady, dependable and hard workers, with stable marriages." The report adds:

"They led rather quiet progressive lives."

The author commented that the data suggests strongly that smoking is more than a superficial habit. It might have some origin in personality and physiology.

The Need for a Regional Master Plan

The regional planning commission, after going through the throes of organizing itself during the last year, has now faced up to the major problem before it: the need for a master plan for the Fox Cities area.

A master plan is to a growing community what a blueprint is to a contractor who is going to build a house; it tells him where he is going, and how to get there. The simile might be more accurate if we used a remodeling project instead of a new house, for our present community is already built — for better or for worse — and all we can do now is try to make sure that its future growth will be well planned.

Preparing a master plan for a community as large as the Fox Cities is no small project; it is going to take a lot of man-hours worked by planning experts, and it is going to cost a good sum of money. The commission has wisely decided that it would be foolhardy to build up its own staff to the size necessary to prepare such a plan in a reasonable span of time; getting competent people would be difficult, and when the job is done many of them would have to be let go. The idea of hiring a competent planning firm to do the job has obvious merit.

The commission is up against the difficult task of persuading the taxpayers of its 10 member municipalities to put up a substantial sum of money for a project the results of which will not be apparent for two or three years at least. We would not be surprised to hear expressions of misgivings on the part of municipal officials and taxpayers citizens on this point during the coming months. And yet it is any more speculative to invest public monies in the preparation of a master plan for a community than to invest in such things as new schools to serve children yet to be born, new roads and bridges to handle expected future traffic, or facilities such as water or sewage plants designed to meet the needs of 10 or 20 years from now?

Furthermore the taxpayers are being offered an unusual "deal" in the proposed financing of the master plan project, in that a substantial part of the money will come from private contributions. S. F. Shattuck of Neenah — that grand supporter of so many things that have been good for the Fox Cities — has promised to raise at least $30,000 in contributions from industry and individuals if the taxpayers of the member municipalities will shoulder the rest of the load. The exact cost of preparing the master plan is not yet known, although the figure of $72,000 is being used since that was the bid of the only firm that has been contacted so far. (The $72,000, or whatever figure is finally reached, does not include the regular budget of the planning commission which is currently $16,805, and which also might be substantially increased if the commission decides to enlarge its staff to provide consulting planning services for the individual municipalities.)

Thus the taxpayers of the Fox Cities area are being asked to put up something in the neighborhood of $40,000 to $50,000 over a two or three-year period for the preparation of a plan that could mean as much to the future development of the Fox Cities as, for example, the original platting of our municipalities a century ago has meant to their development up to now. This comes to about 35 cents per capita, or $1.50 per family.

At a recent industrial development conference in Milwaukee one of the speakers listing the things industry looks for in a community mentioned regional planning as an important item. Since the Fox Cities have Wisconsin's first — and so far only — regional planning commission, this should cause us to perk up our ears. We are not trying to say that the existence of a regional master plan will insure the industrial development of the area; it is not quite so simple as that. But we do say that regional planning is a "must" for growing, progressive communities, especially those where a multiplicity of municipal and county governments creates problems of coordination and cooperation. A master plan for the Fox Cities could well be the smartest investment we have ever made.

'Gunaca Should Come Back, But ...'

It is almost unanimous now. Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, says John Gunaca should be returned to Wisconsin to stand trial for felonious assault. He added that it is a "disgrace" that Gunaca has not been tried.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who has been protecting Gunaca by refusing extradition to Wisconsin since Gunaca fled this state after his alleged assault on John Bersch, Sr., 65, on July 4, 1954, says he is willing to have Gunaca returned for trial if it can be held somewhere other than in Sheboygan county.

John Gunaca has said he would be willing to return for trial if it could be held somewhere like Milwaukee county.

Wisconsin's Sen. Proxmire says Gunaca should be returned for trial.

David Weber, district attorney of Sheboygan county, recently called on State Sen. Gaylord Nelson to say where he stands in the return of Gunaca for trial. Weber wants to know if Nelson, who hopes to be the Democratic candidate for governor, agrees with the position of Gov. Williams in his "deliberate insult on the integrity of the people of Sheboygan, Ozaukee, Washington, Fond du Lac, Calumet and Manitowoc counties."

tives from justice, Weber thinks he should be willing to give his views.

It may be recalled that Gunaca, who had been imported from Detroit to help Local 833 in its strike against the Kohler company, is charged with beating the elderly Bersch in a Sheboygan Falls filling station operated by Bersch's son. The elder Bersch was hospitalized after the beating. He later died but it is not officially charged that the death resulted from the beating.

The Gunaca case is interesting of itself as a simple matter of justice. But it would not get the attention it has if that were all. It is highly charged with political consequences both in Wisconsin and Michigan. This case is regarded as an indication of the control the UAW and the CIO may exercise over government in Michigan through its control of the governorship. Reuther angrily denied such an inference in his appearance before the Senate Rackets committee. But even if he did not interfere in this case, the opinion persists that Gov. Williams is acting in a way he believes friendly to the UAW.

Wisconsin has a similar interest. Wisconsin people would like to know whether any candidates condone the actions of the governor of Michigan and if they do, if they are likely to introduce such practices to Wisconsin. It is a matter that calls for more than a casual denial.

Hospitals Rely on Voluntary Gifts

The nation's investment in hospitals is at an all-time high and is three and two-thirds times what it was 30 years ago, according to the Health Information Foundation.

The increase in hospital investment has been greatly accelerated in recent years by the more widespread use of hospital insurance but it has not yet reached the requirements of the present population. The foundation says. The total investment today is about $13 billions. This breaks down to $590 per patient admitted to a hospital during a year. It is equivalent to $8.100 per hospital bed, or $78 per person in the nation.

Even so the investment is not up to the present needs. Most authorities in this field say there is a large deficit of beds for mental and chronic illnesses, and at least a billion dollars more is required to rehabilitate existing hospital buildings.

Private philanthropy always has been an important source of funds for hospital construction. Last year of an estimated $505 million spent on hospital construction three-fifths came from voluntary contributions.

Furthermore no great change is expected in the future: the institute says if hospitals are to be maintained and improved philanthropic giving must continue to supply the bulk of the funds.

What Others are Saying

Good Driving Conditions Can be Bad

From The New Orleans Item

"Long, Straight Stretch Ahead. Extremely Dangerous. Drive With Utmost Caution." This should be the wording of a new traffic sign to be placed on the nation's highways. There is one place almost as dangerous as ground zero at Yucca Flat. That place is the seat next to the driver of an automobile on a highway straight as a string in broad open daylight.

"Perfect" driving conditions seem to be the worst, actually. The driver often figures he can watch the road with half an eye. The center line, when it points directly to the focal point of convergence on the horizon has an hypnotic effect.

"That incoming car must be five miles away. Plenty of time to get around this creep in front of me." These are often famous last words.

Let the road become crooked and the driver checks his speed. Let there be gloom of night and the driver becomes more cautious. Let there also be a hard rain coming down and the driver becomes a little scared.

It almost seems that highways are safest when conditions are so bad drivers cannot see the warning signs.

Peaceful Spring?

Soviet Trade Gains Recall Threat Khrushchev Made Against U. S.

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY
(Copyright, 1958)

In 1954, the Committee for Economic Development, which was founded by Paul Hoffman, took the position that the United States "reduce our tariffs and other barriers to foreign trade on a gradual and selective basis." This same committee in March 1958 takes the same position despite the influx of cheap-labor, low-tax, subsidized foreign goods into the American market at a time of spiraling unemployment in American industry.

One would imagine that Thomas D. Cabot, formerly president of the United Fruit Company, who is responsible for the 1958 report, would recognize that time marches on and that it could be perilous for this country to be further weakened by discontented and even frightened labor. Unemployment is the most serious social disease that we can face; the ravages of it are visible for decades.

Cabot's reasoning is most interesting. First he quotes Khrushchev as saying:

"We declare war upon you — excuse me for using such an expression — in the peaceful field of trade."

"We declare a war. We will win over the United States. The threat to the United States, is not the IC-BM, but in the field of peaceful production. We are relentless in this and it will prove the superiority of our system."

No Boast

Having said this, Cabot proceeds to establish: "As far as foreign trade is concerned, this is no idle boast. Soviet bloc free world trade increased 77 per cent from 1952 to 1956. In 1956 the bloc accounted for over 10 per cent of the total trade of seven free world underdeveloped countries. Over 20 per cent of the total trade of Afghanistan, Iceland, Egypt and Yugoslavia was with bloc countries; about 17 per cent of Turkey's, 16 per cent of Burma's and 12 per cent of Iran's."

"Western Europe and Latin America, areas of crucial importance to the United States, also figured prominently in Soviet bloc trade in 1956. Sixty-eight per cent of the bloc's total external trade in 1956, and 70 per cent of the increase in the bloc's total foreign trade from 1952 to 1956, occurred with western Europe ..."

dising. Soviet Russia lends money, lends goods, sells goods, gives away goods, underwrites developments, barter, trades and is flexible on the subject of hard or soft currency, possessing both in enormous quantities. Adequate statistics are unavailable as to the total amount of gold possessed by Soviet Russia. There have been estimates that it is as high as $12,000,000,000 — maybe more. Whatever it is, Russian gold has been appearing on the free gold market, particularly in the London gold exchange. It is suspected, but not established, that some Russian gold has appeared in Swiss banks to be used in take-over activities in this country and in Great Britain.

C. E. D. Frightened The C. E. D. is apparently conscious of this new-type capitalist activity on the part of Soviet Russia and is duly frightened by it. But Soviet Russia does not maintain a free market within the Soviet universal state. There all goods are closely controlled, locally manufactured, imported, exported. As the government is the sole purchaser of the total manufacture and of the total import, no tariff is necessary.

In Soviet Russia, the government owns and manages the means of production, distribution and exchange and therefore in the economic field, the government's decisions are not questionable by private persons.

Let us take an example. Let us say that Soviet Russia, for political reasons, decides to buy an enormous share of the Brazilian coffee crop — more coffee than can be consumed in Russia where the people prefer tea.

This would be a barter transaction between the two governments. It would undoubtedly be subject to political as well as economic considerations. The price of coffee, per pound or per ton, would be decided along political lines without regard to economic conditions. It would be Soviet-Russia's hope to recoup whatever losses developed by selling the coffee elsewhere or take the loss as a cost of the cold war. The objective of the transaction would be to wean Brazil away from the United States and to open its doors to communist activities.

This is unrelated to tariffs, free trade or the free market. It is a new device developed by Dr. Schacht of Hitler's Germany.

Do Candidates' Faces On Cards Win Election?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Comparatively little is known in these parts about the gentleman who now is governor of Mississippi, but that worthy recently made a proposal to his legislature that will evoke a friendly response to all those who have any regard for the landscape.

According to the Council of State Governments, the Mississippian has suggested the outlawing of political posters and similar placards on the public streets and roads of his state.

Such advertising does little or nothing to influence the results of an election, he said, perhaps with hope rather than conviction.

Many a candidate in Wisconsin, it may be guessed, will privately echo the governor's observation that "the custom has been followed so long that candidates are afraid to abandon it."

"Long after the election is over and settled, these pasteboards wave in the breeze all over Mississippi," he continued. "Let us outlaw this. It will not only improve the scenery, it will reduce the unnecessary expenses incident to seeking an opportunity to serve the people in public office."

WHAT ABOUT IT?

One of the eternal mysteries about politics involves the desperate matter of calculating what are the devices that are effective in attracting the attention of the typically indifferent elector.

The phrase "political science," when applied to the business of vote-seeking and vote-getting is an eloquent misnomer. For nobody really knows how votes are most effectively won. Sen. Henry Maier of Milwaukee, the Democratic leader in the Wisconsin state senate, is currently engaged in a study of the matter for his own satisfaction. He has questioned a variety of persons who might be assumed to know something about it. He has got, according to reports, only a variety of guesses, put forward with varying degrees of uncertainty.

It is quite obvious that the typical candidate tends to follow in the paths of those who have gone before. The candidate for sheriff in the representative county wouldn't think of making a campaign without going to a printer and getting some placards printed and posting them wherever there is a chance that they will encounter the glance of the passing voter. But is it really a justifiable expenditure? Is the voter influenced by this proliferation of candidate likenesses throughout the county, staring at him from every tavern front, or can he be best approached through somewhat more rational means?

THE ALTERNATIVE

The observer is tempted to guess that the average candidate would do better for himself, and for the system he is ostensibly volunteering to serve, to devise an appeal to the intelligence of the voter.

Surely it would be more dignified to communicate with the mind of the electorate, than to copy the saturation methods of the tooth paste producers.

But that doesn't meet the fact that there are those candidates who don't or can't communicate — because they have nothing to say except the fact that they have a hungry desire to hold a public office.

The typical campaign advertising technique contains an implicit insult to the responsibility of the sovereign voter. The representative candidate seems to assume that if he can hammer his face and his name into the consciousness of the community, he can get the vote he wants, other considerations aside.

But perhaps there is some improvement, imperceptible and slow as it may appear to be. Not many decades ago the candidate used to recite proudly that he was a "taxpayer." That identity is now so universal that to make such a boast today would excite only guffaws on the part of the solicited.

Seas Will Provide Almost Inexhaustible Power Supply

BY EVERETT ALLEN
(Written for the Associated Press)

Three-fourth of the earth's surface is ocean, and a large proportion of ocean is hydrogen.

Add the technology of the hydrogen bomb, and the formula spells an incalculable boon for mankind—cheap, virtually inexhaustible power.

Once this particular application of hydrogen fusion is mastered—and some authorities predict it within 15 years—the oceans could provide enough cheap electricity to supply the world for a billion years.

Even the rivers and lakes of inland nations could be transformed into power producers by harnessed hydrogen fusion—thus spreading the benefits to every country on the globe.

To Americans caught in the cold war, however, the most important aspect of the international race for cheap power is that the United States presently is not leading the field.

There is considerable evidence to indicate that diplomatic courtesy rather than scientific justice brought about the joint U. S.-British announcement on hydrogen fusion.

Non-government authorities in both countries have indicated the British scored a clear first in the controlled release of the H-bomb type of energy, for eventual peaceful application.

It may be that other nations also are ahead of America in this field. Both the French and the Russians are known to be working on it.

Roger Baifas, director of France's research center on thermonuclear fusion, says experiments being conducted at the laboratory of Fontenay-aux-Roses near Paris indicate that "France is in a good position in the race for thermonuclear energy."

I. V. Kurchatov, director of the Soviet Union's atomic energy institute, said "several more years of strenuous research" will be necessary before thermonuclear power can be harnessed successfully for industrial use. He acknowledged that the British had achieved "significant scientific results" in their efforts along this line, and pass the sun's core temperature, which he estimated at 15 million degrees.

The main problem, of course, is to find a suitable "container" for these tremendous temperatures. But it seems only a matter of time until vast energy from the seas will power humanity's workshops.

Questions Aid Going to Russia

Laird Says American Firm Gave Assistance For Tire Factory

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Commerce department officials will be sharply questioned by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, during up-coming appropriations committee hearings on why an American industrial firm was permitted to furnish the "technical know-how" to a British firm to construct a $42 million tire plant in Russia.

The Wisconsin congressman said he was shocked when he learned of details of the transaction, which apparently has the blessing of the commerce department.

About a year ago, Laird said, the firm of Hale and Klugrum in Akron, Ohio, applied for an export license to furnish the technical know-how to the United Kingdom firm to build a factory in the Ukraine which would manufacture two million tires yearly to sell to the Russians.

At that time, the commerce department denied the license to the Ohio firm.

Granted License
A few weeks ago, however, the export license was granted Hale and Klugrum, with the commerce department reversing itself. One of the main reasons given for this reversal was that the plant would have been constructed anyhow, so the American firm might just as well get the business in furnishing technical information.

"I shall challenge the statement that this tire plant could have been built without American technical know-how," Laird said.

Meat Ratio In 'Banger' Unsolvable

London — A government spokesman says modern science, which has plumbed the innards of the atom, has been stopped cold by the British sausage.

John Hare, the minister of agriculture, told a stunned house of commons yesterday: "There is no known method of determining the proportions of pork or beef and other meats in a sausage."

British sausages are familiarly known as bangers. This is because when fried they frequently burst, showering bystanders with bits of pork, beef, hot fat, powdered milk, bread filling and the Lord only knows what else.

The persistent mystery of its contents has long distressed even the banger's staunchest admirers. There ought, they said, to be a law.

Formed Committee

By 1955 the clamor had reached such a pitch that the government took action. It asked the officially sponsored Food Standards Committee to decide what a banger's insides should consist of, with a view to fixing a legal standard for same.

In May, 1956, the committee came forth with its findings. As a starter on standardization, it held that a pork sausage should not contain more than 20 per cent beef, nor a beef sausage more than 20 per cent pork.

Since then, there had been nothing from the government but a long, embarrassed silence. Hare's confession, prompted by a question from conservative Col. R. B. Glyn of Dorset, explains why.

"I could not agree to establish a standard for sausages that cannot be enforced," said Hare. "There is, therefore, no action which it can take on the committee's report."

Laborite Somerville Hastings expressed hope that scientists may at some future time leave off dissecting the nucleus of deuterium long enough to have another go at the banger.

Hastings said he personally said, "Furthermore, if we are going to lend our industrial talent to further the sale of tires to Russia, why couldn't our own tire manufacturers make the tires, sell them to England, which in turn would sell them to Russia?"

did not regard it as fair play for banger buyers to be kept in ignorance of "the percentage of meat they contain, whether it is pork, beef, cat or whatever it is."

"This," replied the vexed minister, "is a very vexed

Management Holds Labor Income Key In Farm Operation

UW Researchers Fail to Find Tie Between Size, Returns From Work

A Wisconsin farm operator can often increase his labor income by taking a long look at his management system, according to farm management specialists at the University of Wisconsin.

One of the important deciding factors in farm income is the size of the farm. It's a known fact that labor incomes go up rather rapidly with the size of the farm.

This does not necessarily follow, say the management specialists, that all farm operators now on small farms should increase their size of holdings. Some of the important factors affecting the best size of farm for individual operators are (1) preference of the farm operator, (2) efficiency and capacity of the farm operator, (3) cash or credit limitations of the farmer, (4) size of the farm family, and (5) type of farming carried on.

However, to compare income with farm size, the economists have taken crop acres as a measure. In a recent survey of size of farm and its effect on income the economists studied 386 Wisconsin farms. They found that farms with 24 to 49 crop acres had average labor income of $1,934. Farms with 50 to 79 acres averaged $2,660; with 80 to 109 acres they averaged just over $3,600; and with over 110 acres they averaged $5,222.

The specialists say that income goes up with size of farm for a number of reasons. First, the larger farm has more acres in crops and more units of livestock. Second, it costs less per unit to produce each bushel of oats or each gallon of milk. There's more productive work per worker. And workers can accomplish more in the same time, because they usually have larger power units, larger machines, larger fields, and more labor saving equipment.

On the larger farm the building investments per animal, or per unit of feed stored, is usually less than on the small farm. Machinery investments may be less per unit of production. And fencing costs are usually proportionately less on the larger farms because of larger fields.

Whether or not a farmer increases his size of operation depends on the five factors listed above.

Five Factors

The management specialists say some farmers prefer to operate small farms. They may not want the added work and risks of a larger business. Some people place a higher value on increased leisure than on increased income.

Large farms require excellent management and make heavy demands on the operator's capacity for sustained work. It might be better for older men to stay on smaller farms unless they can delegate most of the heavier work.

Capital requirements per worker on many Wisconsin farms run between $15,000 and $20,000. Capital limitations alone will keep many operators from acquiring the larger farms. For men with limited capital, it may be better to rent a large farm than to buy a small one.

Farm operators with large families should probably seek the larger farms. However, if a man doesn't have the capacity and the capital necessary to operate the larger farms, he might be better off on the smaller one regardless of the size of family.

Finally, the best size of farm will vary with the type. Eighty acres may be small for a dairy farm, but very large for a poultry or truck farm.

State Ranked Fourth With Honey Harvest

80 Pct. Increase In Returns Seen Over '56 Output

Wisconsin's 1957 honey crop ranked fourth in the nation, according to the Federal - State Crop Reporting Service for Wisconsin.

Last year the state's honey production of about 14 1/2 million pounds was well above the small 1956 output of 8 million pounds. The increased production resulted from a gain in the yield per colony of bees from 41 pounds in 1956 to 74 pounds in 1957. The number of colonies of bees in the state last year is estimated at 194,000 or 2,000 fewer than in 1956.

The state's beeswax output last year is estimated at 230,000 pounds, and it is also well above the 1956 production of 129,000 pounds. The beeswax output had a farm value of $136,000. The farm value of the 1957 honey crop is estimated at $2,728,000.

Mid-December reports show that beekeepers in the state had about 6 1/2 million pounds of the 1957 production for sale. Stocks of honey held by producers in the nation are estimated at 6 1/2 million pounds or about 27 percent of the 1957 production. Honey production in the nation last year is estimated at 242 1/2 million pounds compared with 213 1/2 million pounds in 1956.

Thomson Calls for Elm Disease Action

Proclaims Week For Clean-Up To Halt Blight

Gov. Vernon Thomson has declared this week as Dutch Elm Disease Clean-Up week to focus attention on the importance of clean-up work to save the beautiful elms in our cities and communities.

The dreaded Dutch Elm disease has now firmly established itself in southeastern Wisconsin. How much more damage it will do and how far it will spread depends entirely on individual and community effort for its control. It was pointed out by E. L. Chambers of the Wisconsin department of agriculture.

The disease is caused by a fungus and spread by two species of elm bark beetles—the smaller European and the native. Both occur in Wisconsin. The former is the chief carrier of the disease as far as is known. It breeds and overwinters in weak and dead elm trees and elm wood of any kind on which the bark is firmly attached. In late spring or early summer these beetles emerge from their overwintering places and feed on healthy elms, thus spreading the disease.

Doomed Trees
 Once a tree is infected, it is doomed. Reducing the beetle population is the only known means of controlling the spread of the disease. Sanitation, the removal and destruction of weak and dead elm trees, broken and dead branches, elm logs and firewood that might harbor the overwintering beetle, is the cheapest and most effective method of cutting the beetle population.

To Drop in Cost, Frequency of Serving, UW Survey Discovers

School children will drink more milk during school hours if the price is lowered. But they'll also drink more if milk is made available more often — even when the price remains unchanged.

Those are some conclusions of a pricing experiment conducted in 36 Milwaukee and Madison schools by University of Wisconsin agricultural economists, in cooperation with Gordon Gunderson, former state school lunch administrator. The survey was conducted by Hugh Cook, H. W. Halverson, R. L. Sucher, and Donald Turner.

The researchers used the federal allotment of school milk funds to lower the price of milk by various amounts in the several schools. Before the federal allotment, milk was selling at 4 cents per half pint in the schools. For the experiment prices were 3 cents, 2 cents, and 1 cent per half pint.

Affected Consumption
In the grade schools, price reductions consistently gave increases in milk consumption. And this was at a time of year when students in other schools were drinking less milk. The greater the price reduction, the greater the increase in milk drinking, the economists found.

In Milwaukee grade schools, for instance, milk sales increased 10 per cent when milk sold for a penny less, 25 per cent when it was 2 cents less, and 60 per cent when it was 3 cents less than it had been. For the Madison schools, comparable figures were 40 per cent, 70 per cent, and 160 per cent.

The difference between increases in the Madison and Milwaukee schools was due to increased availability, the economists say. Before the experiment, milk was served only once a day in Madison, compared with twice daily during the experiment. Milwaukee continued to serve once a day.

When the price reduction was small, the increased availability seemed very important in parents' decisions to have their children take school milk.

Drank Some at Home
But even though they drank more milk in school, the pupils didn't cut down drastically on the amount they drank at home.

About 80 per cent of the children's mothers noticed no change in the amount of milk their children drank at home before and during the experiment.

Sales of chocolate and white milk were about equal in the Madison high schools when both were priced the same. The economists believe that pupils drank more total milk when both chocolate and white were offered than they would have if only white was offered.

Based on this study, the economists have seven recommendations for increasing the effectiveness of the school milk program.

Recommendations
Price reduction will give substantial increases in milk consumption by school students. Many times, the school board will find that total milk receipts will increase despite reduced prices. Any decline in total receipts due to the lower price will be very small.

The percentage increase in consumption tends to be much greater compared to the percentage reduction in price when the price reduction is more than 50 per cent than

you should ask yourself before you buy a bulk milk cooler!

- 1 Will it cool when the power is off?
Haverly's has a backup mechanical refrigeration and without electricity.
- 2 Will milk temperature go up between milking?
Since copper cools the milk, the temperature always goes down, even when you stop.
- 3 Will it provide cream line cooling?
Copper provides continuous 24 hours a day cream line cooling.
- 4 Does outside heat affect the temperature of the milk?
With Haverly's copper cold wall construction, not one B.T.U. of heat that passes through the side walls or bottom ever reaches the milk, but is captured by the copper into the cold zone. With 4" of cork insulation the problem is reduced to a minimum.
- 5 Is mechanical agitation necessary between milking?
Not in a Haverly because the copper cold walls give continuous slow but rapid agitation 24 hours a day.

when it is less. Improving availability would probably do more good than a small price reduction.

School milk isn't merely a substitution for milk drank at home.

Even in "good times" for employment and income, some pupils from low-income families do not buy much school milk. This points to the need for keeping school milk prices as low as possible.

Proper refrigeration or careful timing of deliveries is important in view of reports that pupils drink less in the late spring months because they consider the milk "too warm" unless cooling has been thorough.

Farm Numbers

Drop Explained
As Result of Mechanization

Waupaca — Farm families number but 12 per cent of the total population today and estimates show the figure may drop to 5 per cent by 1975 said Henry Ahlgren, director of the Wisconsin Extension service.

Speaking to district agricultural committees at a Wausau meeting, he explained that rural population has slipped from 6.3 million in 1929 to 4.8 million in 1954.

The movement is toward size increases and specialization, said Ahlgren. This is borne out by the fact that farm acreage per farmer is up 60 per cent since 1929.

More Equipment
One of the reasons for the decline is that there is now three times as much machinery and equipment being used by farmers and twice as many motor vehicles as in 1940. Fewer farmers are able to do the same amount of work he said.

With machinery advancements comes production cost increases, he said, but farmers' income has decreased. The average machinery investment per farmer is $16,813 said Ahlgren. Comparisonwise, the farmer is earning 41 per cent of what industrial workers are making, he said.

The fact that part-time farming was on the upswing was emphasized by the statement that 42 per cent of farm income comes from off the farm employment.

Alternatives left to farmers are to move out, increase in size or get more efficient, or take on part time work, said Ahlgren. He recommended that farmers assume leadership to make necessary adjustments and bring them about for their own betterment.

Waupaca county members attending the conference included Arnold Dredtke, Manawa, Arthur Roepke, Clintonville, George Barber, Michael Drozd and Gene Hoyer, Waupaca.

USDA Warns
Of Too Big Potato Crop

Washington — (U) — Potato growers were warned Monday against letting current good prices lure them into over-production of late summer and fall crop potatoes this year.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said planting surveys indicate excessive late summer and fall plantings are being planned in some areas.

Wisconsin and Minnesota were among the states showing indications of possible over-production. Others were Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Long Island in New York state, New Jersey and all the western states except Montana.

Benson urged growers to reconsider their plans and avoid "both the cost of planting unnecessary acres and the production of a price-depressing surplus."

He said the government can-

The Easter lilies will last longer and remain healthy if they are located in a sunny, cool area of the house. Temperatures just below 65 degrees Fahrenheit and an abundance of sun are desirable. Potato prices in recent weeks have climbed to relatively high levels, reflecting freeze damage to the winter crop in southern states.

Red Marshal Cleared Long After Death Was Executed in Great Stalin Purge

Moscow — Marshal Mikhael N. Tukhachevsky has been fully rehabilitated and hailed as one of the Soviet Union's greatest military commanders — 21 years after his execution on treason charges in the Stalin purges.

The latest issue of Problems of History, a journal released Wednesday removed any doubts about his place in official Soviet history. It said he was among such "great military commanders" as S. Kamenev, A. I. Yegorov and B. M. Shaposhnikov.

The great Soviet encyclopedia brought Tukhachevsky back from disgrace earlier this year by saying he was one of several "talented" Soviet military commanders of his period.

Born a nobleman, Tukhachevsky fought for the czar in World war I. Soon after he joined the Bolsheviks, he placed in command of the cavalry. He was one of the youngest of five Soviet marshals. He served as vice commissar of defense and was one of the government's leading spokesmen and diplomatic experts.

The Tukhachevsky case shocked the world in 1937. The Soviet marshal, accused of conspiring with foreign powers including Nazi Germany, was shot after he and seven other outstanding red army leaders were convicted of treason at a court-martial.

The Tukhachevsky case shocked the world in 1937. The Soviet marshal, accused of conspiring with foreign powers including Nazi Germany, was shot after he and seven other outstanding red army leaders were convicted of treason at a court-martial.

Most of the judges subsequently were shot.

The trial set the stage for Stalin's big purge of red army officers, in which thousands were executed.

Other Victims

About two years ago communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Niko-lai Bulganin privately acknowledged to a high-ranking foreign dignitary that Tukhachevsky was innocent, well informed diplomatic sources reported.

Yegorov, a former army chief of staff executed in 1937, was among those rehabilitated. Shaposhnikov, army chief of staff during part of World war II, died in 1945.
